Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—A number of grand jury victims were arraigned in court yesterday afternoon and sentences were imposed as follows:

Edward Hicklin, of Lisbon, pleaded guilty to furnishing liquor in each of two indictments and was fined $25 and costs in each. A third case was nollied.

Claud Hasbrouch, proprietor of the Cowan House, had six indictments returned against him for selling to Emmet Long, an habitual. He pleaded guilty to three and was given $20 and costs on each.

Joseph Vaughn, bartender for Pierce Burbick, was arraigned on three indictments charging him with selling liquor unlawfully. He was fined $25 and costs in each case and one case was nollied.

C. C. Davids, of Wellsville, was here last term charged with selling to minors, and Judge Hole gave him $40 and costs in one case.

Samuel Brubaker, of Wellsville, was indicted for selling to a minor. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs and given 15 days in jail.

John Adams, a farmer of West township, who resides on the McKinley farm, testified that he kept a barrel of whisky on his farm, but had sold a quantity of it a number of times to neighbors. He was fined $75 and costs and one day in the county jail.

Dominick Ferra, of Wellsville, was indicted for shooting with intent to kill, and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Edward McCoy, of Lisbon, was indicted with having furnished liquor to Frank Adams, Jr., and was fined $15 and costs.

Samuel King, of Lisbon, furnished liquor to Rollin Jones, a minor and he was fined $30 and costs.

George Taylor came here a short time ago from Pennsylvania and was unacquainted with the habits of Winfield Van Fossan, an alleged habitual. One case of furnishing for him was nollied.

Michael Moister, of Lisbon, pleaded guilty to furnishing liquor to Denver Dewell, 12-year-old boy. He was fined $20 and costs and committed to the workhouse until paid.

George Gibbins, a Wellsville saloonist, was arraigned on a charge of furnishing to Frank Adams, a Lisbon minor, and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to the workhouse.

Probate Court News.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—The will in the estate of the late James Welsh, of Madison township, was filed for probate this morning and the application set for February 25. James C. Crawford is named as executor.

The will of William Arnold, of Unity township, was filed and the application for probate will be heard on February 15. Rosetta Arnold will act as executor.

The will in the estate of Jane McKee, of Perry township, was admitted to probate.

IT IS SAID

ACTION WILL BE STARTED AGAINST CONSTABLE MILLER

About five months ago Justice McLane bound Orlando Smith over to court on a serious charge, preferred by Stella Guyton.

The friends of Smith have been very active since that time, and a number of attempts have been made to compromise the case out of court. Last Saturday this was effected, and although the consideration is not given out, it is understood it was a substantial one.

Now that all matters directly bearing on the case have been disposed of, it is said Smith's friends are thinking seriously of proceeding against Constable Miller on the ground that he made the arrest in a saloon, which, they claim, is illegal.

Miller was seen today and said that he was not alarmed in the least, and would be in position, in case they entered proceedings, to clearly show where he stood in the matter.

ABE RAMBO

Deputy Sheriff Chris A. Bick lately received a letter from Abe Rambo, of this county, who was sent to the penitentiary one year ago for five years on a charge of highway robbery. Rambo wanted the deputy sheriff to work for his parole. Deputy Bick did not have time to respond to the yetter and received a letter from Warden Darby inquiring about the matter.

CHIEF THOMPSON

Has Discovered No Trace of the Parties Wanted for Stealing $56.

Business has been slow in police circles since yesterday morning, and not an arrest was made last night.

The money reported to have been stolen from Fred Hosack, $56 in round numbers, has not been recovered, and although Chief Thompson has had the matter in hand for several days, no trace of the thief or thieves has been found.

H. J. WINDRAM

H. J. Windham, the Sixth street grocer, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon.

The gentleman was engaged in changing the location of a barrel of crackers when the little finger of his right hand in some manner became entangled in the staves. The member was mashed so badly that it may be that amputation will be necessary.

OIL INSPECTOR LEWIS IS HERE

HIS PRINCIPAL MISSION HERE

STREET LAMPS ARE ALL RIGHT

J. K. Lewis, of Youngstown, deputy state oil inspector, is in the city today for the purpose of seeing if the oil dealers are complying with the law in regard to oil, but more especially to notify the dealers in regard to the use of gasoline for illuminating purposes, as he understands gasoline lamps have been sold in this city.

The law on the subject says:

Section 400. No person may adulterate with any substance whatever, for the purpose of sale, or illuminating purposes, any oil obtained from petroleum, or obtained from coal, in such manner as to render it dangerous to use; nor shall any person knowingly sell, or offer for sale, any oil obtained from petroleum, or from coal, or from the products of either, for illuminating purposes within this state, which by reason of being adulterated, or for any reason whatever, will flash at a temperature less than one hundred and twenty degrees of Farenheit's thermometer, and the test herein prescribed; but the oils not bearing the test herein prescribed, may be used in street lamps for lighting streets or public wharves, ways or alleys, and also the gas or vapor from such oils may be used for illuminating purposes, when the oils from which said gas or vapor is generated, are contained in reservoirs underground, outside the buildings illuminated or lighted by the gas or vapor, and a person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by imprisonment in any county jail not more than one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred ($500) dollars, or by such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

As gasoline does not come up to the required test it will be readily seen by the foregoing section that it cannot be used for illuminating purposes except for street lights, or when stored in underground reservoirs, outside the building to be lighted.

When the fact became known that the inspectors of oil would make a fight against the gasoline lamps there was some speculation as to whether it would effect this city and compel the discontinuance of the 40 lights purchased a short time ago by council.

The lights come within the law and can still be used to illuminate the suburbs.

Mr. Lewis will spend a few days in the city.

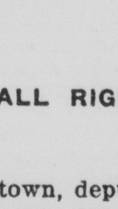

This is our Badge of Honor.

Tested for lo these many years.

CUSICK DEPARTED

WHEN RELEASED ON HIS OWN RECOGNIZANCE.

When Constable Powell brought William Cusick into McCarron's court yesterday his scrappy mood of the night before was somewhat modified, and when asked to furnish bond for his appearance in the afternoon, was sorely troubled.

He finally went to a superintendent in one of the local potteries, in company with the constable, with the request that he go on his bond. After hearing the circumstances surrounding the case the gentleman refused, and they returned to the squire's office, where another conflab took place. The squire reasoned that Mrs. Cusick would be just as well satisfied if he went away and never showed up again, as though the prosecution was proceeded with, and so permitted William to go on his own recognizance until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Now this was just what William wanted, and it cannot be said Mrs. Cusick was averse to the plan. He went home, put on an extra pair of trousers and is probably now in Kentucky, or some other summer climate.

LISBON FIRE.

SEVERAL BUSINESS BLOCKS BURNED LAST NIGHT.

Two Saloons And a Bowling Alley Were Gutted by the Flames.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Lisbon was visited by a destructive fire last night, which completely destroyed four business blocks on West Walnut street.

The fire originated in the kitchen of the Landendorf restaurant and gained such headway before Mr. Landendorf, who was sleeping in the building, awakened that he was compelled to drop from a second-story window to escape.

The other buildings burned were B. F. McGovern's saloon, Bradbury's bowling alley and the Commercial House saloon.

Samuel Hoover, a plumber, was also damaged to the extent of $300.

The loss is estimated at about $18,000.

Cosgrove Was Acquitted.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Patrick Cosgrove, who is employed at the tin mill, was tried to a jury on a charge of furnishing liquor to a minor. They returned a verdict of not guilty.

THE ANIMAL DIDN'T STAND

Managed to Wander Onto the Railroad About the Time a Train Was Due.

THERE WAS A GENERAL SMASH

E. A. Eccles and C. Murray, two Buffalo men who have been in this city for some time selling a cheap musical instrument, will in all probability be shy the profits on all the sales made in this community.

Yesterday morning Murray hired a horse and buggy from Liveryman John Rinehart for the purpose of peddling in the vicinity of Smith's Ferry. He left the horse standing in the road some time during the afternoon, and was engaged in explaining the good qualities of his wares to the inmates of the house, when the animal became tired of waiting, and as there was nothing to prevent, wandered onto the railroad track.

Trains on the Cleveland & Pittsburg are not numerous, but there happened to be one due just about this time. It was an east bound freight, and hit the outfit when it was directly upon the crossing. The buggy was smashed to splinters, the harness completely torn to pieces and the horse badly injured.

The horse was not hit fairly or it would undoubtedly have been killed outright. As it was, a very bad cut was inflicted on the animal's right hip which is of a character that may result in its death, as it is very long and quite deep.

Although the accident occurred during the afternoon it was 11 o'clock before the horse could be brought to this city. Mr. Rinehart valued the animal at $150, and even if it recovers it will not be of much value as a livery horse.

The liveryman's loss in the buggy and harness will be about $50, and as Murray states he is not responsible for a cent, it is possible the amount will not be made good. However, Murray says he will do the best he can to settle for the damage done.

THE ANIMAL DIDN'T STAND

THERE WAS A GENERAL SMASH

E. A. Eccles and C. Murray, two Buffalo men who have been in this city for some time selling a cheap musical instrument, will in all probability be shy the profits on all the sales made in this community.

Yesterday morning Murray hired a horse and buggy from Liveryman John Rinehart for the purpose of peddling in the vicinity of Smith's Ferry. He left the horse standing in the road some time during the afternoon, and was engaged in explaining the good qualities of his wares to the inmates of the house, when the animal became tired of waiting, and as there was nothing to prevent, wandered onto the railroad track.

Trains on the Cleveland & Pittsburg are not numerous, but there happened to be one due just about this time. It was an east bound freight, and hit the outfit when it was directly upon the crossing. The buggy was smashed to splinters, the harness completely torn to pieces and the horse badly injured.

The horse was not hit fairly or it would undoubtedly have been killed outright. As it was, a very bad cut was inflicted on the animal's right hip which is of a character that may result in its death, as it is very long and quite deep.

Although the accident occurred during the afternoon it was 11 o'clock before the horse could be brought to this city. Mr. Rinehart valued the animal at $150, and even if it recovers it will not be of much value as a livery horse.

The liveryman's loss in the buggy and harness will be about $50, and as Murray states he is not responsible for a cent, it is possible the amount will not be made good. However, Murray says he will do the best he can to settle for the damage done.

REV. SPRENG

Delivered a Short Address at the First M. E. Church Last Evening.

The revival service held last evening at the First M. E. church was well attended and Rev. Spreng, of Wellsville, delivered a short address, at the close of which nine persons went forward to the altar.

The services will be held this evening at the usual hours.

TRADES' COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

A Number of Delegates Seated, and Grocers Asked For Some Assistance

TO HELP DEFEAT GROUT BILL

It Provides For a Heavy Tax on Colored Oleomargarine or Artificial Butter.

COUNCIL WILL ACT IN MATTER

A committee composed of C. A. Ferguson and J. H. Dawson, from the retail grocers' association, were then permitted to make a statement with reference to their opposition to the Grout bill, which proposes to increase the tax on oleomargarine and other artificial butter products, reporting that their association had passed resolutions against the measure and asking Trades Council to cooperate with them in the matter. A committee consisting of C. W. Brownfield, C. J. McHugh and Henry Schreiber were appointed to draft a suitable resolution which will touch upon all points necessary to convey the disapproval of the local council to the legislators at Washington respecting the proposed law.

Miss Sadie Hay, of the warehouse women's union, who has for several terms occupied the berth of financial secretary in a most efficient and satisfactory manner, tendered her resignation at the meeting last evening, and upon its being accepted C. J. McHugh, of Typographical Union No. 318, was chosen to fill the unexpired term.

A communication from the Pittsburg Typographical Union was read and contained the information that the Pittsburg Dispatch was the only paper in that city which was strictly union in every department.

The various delegates were instructed to convey this information to their several organizations, and the meeting adjourned.

CHECKERS.

Arrangements are being made to have James Johnson, of Toronto, and several other out-of-town players, come here during Mr. Leonard's stay, and there promises to be some interesting contests within the next few days.

This ever popular game has a large number of supporters in this city, and not a few very good players. In fact the ability of several local players has brought them to the notice of the best cracks in the country.

Bridges to be Remodeled.

The indications are that the bridges at Beaver, Steubenville and Parkersburg will all have to be remodeled and reconstructed so as to comply with the United States bridge law, and report says that an effort will be made to have the national government stand part of the expense. While it is admitted that bridges are a necessity, there appears to be a determination to make these corporations comply with the bridge laws, the object of which is to protect navigation.

MISS CORA M'LANE

Deceased Came from Toronto And While Here Was Taken Ill With Typhoid Fever.

Miss Cora McLane died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baxter, Second street, at about 5:30, the cause of death being typhoid fever.

Deceased was 16 years of age, and besides her parents leaves a number of brothers and sisters to mourn her death, Mrs. Baxter being a sister. She had been in this city but a short time, having come from her home in Toronto to visit her sister.

Funeral services will be held at the Baxter home this evening and the remains will be taken to the home of her parents in Toronto tonight.

The funeral will take place from the Methodist Episcopal church, Toronto, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in the cemetery at that place.

OLD SHOES AND RICE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver Were Given a Grand Sendoff at the Train Yesterday.

Charles Weaver and Miss Nellie Allison were married yesterday afternoon and left on the 4 o'clock train for New York. They will certainly enjoy a most happy honeymoon if there is any truth in the ancient Chinese legend that rice and old shoes insure the happiness of a newly married couple. A number of friends were present at the depot and when the happy couple left their carriage they were received with a bounteous shower of rice and old shoes, which their friends continued to scatter in reckless profusion until the train left the depot. About 20 of the ladies were supplied with tin horns and noise was as plentiful as rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver are very popular among the young people here, and will be welcomed with a delightful reception on their return to this city, where they will make their future home.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Columbiana Man Claims His Wife Has Been Wilfully Absent from Him.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Isaac Harold, of Columbiana, wants a divorce from Martha Harrold, to whom he was married on October 10, 1899 in Clarkson. The husband alleges wilful absence.

Auditor May Remit.

Attorney General Sheets rendered an opinion Saturday to the effect that the auditor of a county may remit the difference between the taxes on forfeited land under the last decennial appraisement and that of 1890, under section 2907a. This does not apply to street assessments. He also held that county commissioners are not entitled to the payment by the county of hotel and livery bills when on official business within their own counties.

To Test the Water.

In a letter to the Mingo board of health, Secretary C. O. Probst, of the state board, says: "The state board will doubtless this year take up an examination of all the public water supplies obtained from the Ohio river. Such an examination means monthly analysis of samples for eight or ten months to allow for varying conditions of the river. This would, of course, include East Liverpool.

THAT WAS DIFFERENT.

Papa Said there Was No Similarity in the Two Cases.

"Papa," asked the little boy, "do you remember the first money you ever earned?"

"Yes," said papa. "It was a nice, new, shiny 5 cent piece that old Mr. Gregg, the grocer, gave me for doing about a quarter's worth of work in carrying a load of potatoes into his cellar. I worked all Saturday afternoon to earn that nickel, and when he paid me I ran three blocks home, tired as I was, to show it."

"And did you put it in your little bank?" asked the little boy.

"No; I got father's permission to spend it just as I pleased. However, I kept it for three or four days, just to have the satisfaction of having money of my owned, earned by my own exertions. And if I could have bought all the things I thought of buying with that nickel I would have had about $10 worth of books, toys, marbles and what not. Finally I made up my mind. What do you think I bought?"

"I am sure I can't guess," said the little boy. "What did you buy, papa?"

"I went to the bakery and bought a custard pie."

"Why, papa! And you said grandma always had custard pie at home and let you have a slice of it as soon as you got home from school!"

"Yes, I used to get a slice, but not a whole pie, and she never let me eat it the way I wanted to. So I went to the bakery and bought my pie and borrowed a spoon from the baker and ate all the custard and left the crust. I never had anything taste so good in all my life."

"You never allow me to eat custard pie that way, papa," said the little boy.

"Oh, that's different!" said papa.—Indianapolis Press.

To Avoid a Total Loss.

A Pittsburg man tells of a visit he made at a thrifty home in a nearby town. The call was quite a pleasant one and during the evening "Abey," the hopeful son of the family, was sent to the cellar for refreshments for the guests. He could be heard groping his way through the dark, and then came the noise of something falling and the crash of glass. "Abey's" mother was plainly uneasy, but she assumed the unnatural composure which her society duties demanded. Soon "Abey" came up with an armful of bottles.

"What was that noise we heard, 'Abey'?" asked the mother.

"Nothing much," replied "Abey." "I knocked over a bottle of milk and it rolled down the steps and spilled."

"Did you call the cat, 'Abey'?" asked the thrifty woman.—Pittsburg News.

The Lost Repeater.

When monsieur the first monsieur at the court of Louis XIV—discovered at his levee that his watch had been stolen, presumably by one of his valets, he finished dressing hastily, and, addressing them all, said: "Gentlemen, the watch strikes. Let us separate as quickly as we can." What a tact and finish were here!

The spirit of monsieur was admirably caught by the French gentleman of the time, who, attacked by robbers at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, simply observed, "Sirs, you have opened very early today."—Cornhill

MAY CALL REV. SLEMMONS.

Congregational Meeting of a Washington, Pa., Church to Be Held This Afternoon.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Rev. William E. Slemmons, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Mercer, who may be called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, of Washington, Pa., at a congregational meeting to be held this afternoon, is an old newspaper man. He served for some time as a reporter on the Chicago dailies. Mr. Slemmons was born in Cadiz, O., Dec. 1, 1855. He studied theology at Princeton and the Western Theological seminaries. He was ordained to the ministry by the presbytery of Erie in 1877 and at once installed as pastor in Mercer, where he has been ever since. His church in that town has grown to a membership of 250. The church in Washington has a membership of 450 and the pulpit has been vacant ever since the death of the Rev. Dr. William James I. Brownson, who was pastor of the church for over 50 years. It is regarded as the strongest church in the Washington presbytery.

The Pains of Kidney Disease

Pain is nature's signal whereby she warns man of approaching danger. Few diseases are so dreadfully fatal as disorders of the kidneys and few are accompanied by more severe pains and discomforts.

One of the most common symptoms of kidney disease is the smarting, scalding sensation when passing water which is likely to come very frequently and at inconvenient times. Then there is the dull, heavy aching in the small of the back and down the limbs.

When these pains are accompanied by deposits in the urine after it has stood for twenty-four hours you may be sure that you are a victim of kidney disease and should not lose a single day in securing the world's greatest kidney cure—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Take one pill at a dose, and in a surprisingly short time you will be far on the road to recovery, for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and promptly on the kidneys, and are certain to prove of great benefit to any one suffering from irregularities of those organs.

Don't imagine that you are experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are almost as well known as his great Recipe Book, have made some of the most surprising cures of kidney disease on record and have come to be considered the only absolute cure for kidney disease.

Mr. J. Curtiss, a well known R. R. engineer, living at 191 Murry street, Binghamton, N. Y., writes:

"Soon after going on the road I began to be troubled by severe pains in my back accompanied by such terrible weakness that I was obliged to stop work for days at a time.

"Hearing of the good results obtained by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I gave them a trial. They helped me almost immediately, and now I can truthfully say that I am as well as any man, thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

TO HELP DEFEAT GROUT BILL

A committee composed of C. A. Ferguson and J. H. Dawson, from the retail grocers' association, were then permitted to make a statement with reference to their opposition to the Grout bill, which proposes to increase the tax on oleomargarine and other artificial butter products, reporting that their association had passed resolutions against the measure and asking Trades Council to cooperate with them in the matter. A committee consisting of C. W. Brownfield, C. J. McHugh and Henry Schreiber were appointed to draft a suitable resolution which will touch upon all points necessary to convey the disapproval of the local council to the legislators at Washington respecting the proposed law.

Miss Sadie Hay, of the warehouse women's union, who has for several terms occupied the berth of financial secretary in a most efficient and satisfactory manner, tendered her resignation at the meeting last evening, and upon its being accepted C. J. McHugh, of Typographical Union No. 318, was chosen to fill the unexpired term.

A communication from the Pittsburg Typographical Union was read and contained the information that the Pittsburg Dispatch was the only paper in that city which was strictly union in every department.

The various delegates were instructed to convey this information to their several organizations, and the meeting adjourned.

CHECKERS.

Arrangements are being made to have James Johnson, of Toronto, and several other out-of-town players, come here during Mr. Leonard's stay, and there promises to be some interesting contests within the next few days.

This ever popular game has a large number of supporters in this city, and not a few very good players. In fact the ability of several local players has brought them to the notice of the best cracks in the country.

The indications are that the bridges at Beaver, Steubenville and Parkersburg will all have to be remodeled and reconstructed so as to comply with the United States bridge law, and report says that an effort will be made to have the national government stand part of the expense. While it is admitted that bridges are a necessity, there appears to be a determination to make these corporations comply with the bridge laws, the object of which is to protect navigation.

MISS CORA M'LANE

Deceased Came from Toronto And While Here Was Taken Ill With Typhoid Fever.

Miss Cora McLane died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baxter, Second street, at about 5:30, the cause of death being typhoid fever.

Deceased was 16 years of age, and besides her parents leaves a number of brothers and sisters to mourn her death, Mrs. Baxter being a sister. She had been in this city but a short time, having come from her home in Toronto to visit her sister.

Funeral services will be held at the Baxter home this evening and the remains will be taken to the home of her parents in Toronto tonight.

The funeral will take place from the Methodist Episcopal church, Toronto, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in the cemetery at that place.

OLD SHOES AND RICE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver Were Given a Grand Sendoff at the Train Yesterday.

Charles Weaver and Miss Nellie Allison were married yesterday afternoon and left on the 4 o'clock train for New York. They will certainly enjoy a most happy honeymoon if there is any truth in the ancient Chinese legend that rice and old shoes insure the happiness of a newly married couple. A number of friends were present at the depot and when the happy couple left their carriage they were received with a bounteous shower of rice and old shoes, which their friends continued to scatter in reckless profusion until the train left the depot. About 20 of the ladies were supplied with tin horns and noise was as plentiful as rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver are very popular among the young people here, and will be welcomed with a delightful reception on their return to this city, where they will make their future home.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Columbiana Man Claims His Wife Has Been Wilfully Absent from Him.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Isaac Harold, of Columbiana, wants a divorce from Martha Harrold, to whom he was married on October 10, 1899 in Clarkson. The husband alleges wilful absence.

Attorney General Sheets rendered an opinion Saturday to the effect that the auditor of a county may remit the difference between the taxes on forfeited land under the last decennial appraisement and that of 1890, under section 2907a. This does not apply to street assessments. He also held that county commissioners are not entitled to the payment by the county of hotel and livery bills when on official business within their own counties.

In a letter to the Mingo board of health, Secretary C. O. Probst, of the state board, says: "The state board will doubtless this year take up an examination of all the public water supplies obtained from the Ohio river. Such an examination means monthly analysis of samples for eight or ten months to allow for varying conditions of the river. This would, of course, include East Liverpool.

THAT WAS DIFFERENT.

Papa Said there Was No Similarity in the Two Cases.

"Papa," asked the little boy, "do you remember the first money you ever earned?"

"Yes," said papa. "It was a nice, new, shiny 5 cent piece that old Mr. Gregg, the grocer, gave me for doing about a quarter's worth of work in carrying a load of potatoes into his cellar. I worked all Saturday afternoon to earn that nickel, and when he paid me I ran three blocks home, tired as I was, to show it."

"And did you put it in your little bank?" asked the little boy.

"No; I got father's permission to spend it just as I pleased. However, I kept it for three or four days, just to have the satisfaction of having money of my owned, earned by my own exertions. And if I could have bought all the things I thought of buying with that nickel I would have had about $10 worth of books, toys, marbles and what not. Finally I made up my mind. What do you think I bought?"

"I am sure I can't guess," said the little boy. "What did you buy, papa?"

"Why, papa! And you said grandma always had custard pie at home and let you have a slice of it as soon as you got home from school!"

"Yes, I used to get a slice, but not a whole pie, and she never let me eat it the way I wanted to. So I went to the bakery and bought my pie and borrowed a spoon from the baker and ate all the custard and left the crust. I never had anything taste so good in all my life."

"You never allow me to eat custard pie that way, papa," said the little boy.

"Oh, that's different!" said papa.—Indianapolis Press.

A Pittsburg man tells of a visit he made at a thrifty home in a nearby town. The call was quite a pleasant one and during the evening "Abey," the hopeful son of the family, was sent to the cellar for refreshments for the guests. He could be heard groping his way through the dark, and then came the noise of something falling and the crash of glass. "Abey's" mother was plainly uneasy, but she assumed the unnatural composure which her society duties demanded. Soon "Abey" came up with an armful of bottles.

"What was that noise we heard, 'Abey'?" asked the mother.

The Lost Repeater.

When monsieur the first monsieur at the court of Louis XIV—discovered at his levee that his watch had been stolen, presumably by one of his valets, he finished dressing hastily, and, addressing them all, said: "Gentlemen, the watch strikes. Let us separate as quickly as we can." What a tact and finish were here!

The spirit of monsieur was admirably caught by the French gentleman of the time, who, attacked by robbers at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, simply observed, "Sirs, you have opened very early today."—Cornhill

Congregational Meeting of a Washington, Pa., Church to Be Held This Afternoon.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Rev. William E. Slemmons, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Mercer, who may be called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, of Washington, Pa., at a congregational meeting to be held this afternoon, is an old newspaper man. He served for some time as a reporter on the Chicago dailies. Mr. Slemmons was born in Cadiz, O., Dec. 1, 1855. He studied theology at Princeton and the Western Theological seminaries. He was ordained to the ministry by the presbytery of Erie in 1877 and at once installed as pastor in Mercer, where he has been ever since. His church in that town has grown to a membership of 250. The church in Washington has a membership of 450 and the pulpit has been vacant ever since the death of the Rev. Dr. William James I. Brownson, who was pastor of the church for over 50 years. It is regarded as the strongest church in the Washington presbytery.

MOTHERS OF FAMOUS SONS.

By Mary Lowe Dickinson.

Henry Ward Beecher's Mother.

Henry Ward Beecher says of his mother: "I have only such a remembrance of her as you have of the clouds of ten years ago, yet no devout Catholic ever saw so much in the Virgin Mary as I have seen in my mother, who has been a presence to me ever since I can remember. Do you know why so often I speak what must seem to some of you rhapsody of woman? It is because I had a mother, and if I were to live a thousand years I could not express what seems to me to be the least that I owe her. From her I received my love of the beautiful, my poetic temperament, from her also I received simplicity and childlike faith in God."

She studied literature and history while she spun flax, tying her books to the distaff. No wonder then that her great son was an omniverous reader. She wrote and spoke the French language fluently, painted on ivory, sang and played on the guitar, and was an expert with her needle. So meager was the salary for the increasing household, only $400 a year, that she started a select school in which she taught French, drawing, painting and embroidery, beside the higher English branches. With all this work she found time to make herself the idol of her children.

Of Wendell Phillips, it is said that his love for his mother was a passion. "Her earliest gift to him," says Carlos Marty, "was a Bible. Her one counsel for him was, 'be good, do good.'" That Bible was his prized treasure for seventy years, and, says Mrs. Boulton, "Years after, when he stood up like a great oak in the forest, beat upon by wind and storm, he never forgot to keep his trust where his mother first taught him to place it. From her knowledge and common sense in political and mercantile affairs, he judged that other women must be able to take part in the world's work and therefore through life he asked for them an equal place in home and state."

The Mother of Edison.

The mother of the distinguished scientist, says a recent biography, was a woman of sweet and strong individuality, equipped with a solid, if unpretentious education, and endowed with rare abilities as a teacher. She was eminently qualified to deal with the plastic mind of her son, and it was to her judicious efforts, rather than to those of his father, that Edison owed that early impetus which gave him such admirable scope and direction to his dawning powers. Under her guidance, at the age of 12, a period when most boys are inflaming their imagination and perverting their moral sense with trashy and sensational fiction, Edison, partly from inclination, partly from over-consciousness, was wading through such ponderous tomes as Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy, Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Hume's History of England and History of the Reformation. We are justified in the reference that through such books as these, no boy, however remarkable, waded without the encouragement and companionship of the woman who could bestow not only the instructor's gift, but the mother's sympathy and love.

It was Samuel Johnson's mother to whom he said in his last letter: "You have been the best mother, and, I believe, the best woman in the world. I thank you for your indulgence to me, and beg forgiveness of all that I have done ill, and of all that I have omitted to do well." It was to defray her funeral expenses that in the evenings of one week he wrote Rasselas, for which he received five hundred dollars.

Bishop Hall speaks of his mother's life as saint-like. Never any lips so preached piety, never any soul that more accurately practiced it. He gave her credit for much of the character and influence that made him a power in the church.

"A Model for Mothers."

It was Garibaldi who says of his mother, a woman of humble station: "She was a model for mothers. Her tender affection for me has, perhaps, been excessive; but I do not owe to her love, to her angel-like character, the little good that belongs to mine? Often, amidst the most arduous scenes of my tumultous life, when I have passed unharmed through the breakers of the ocean or the hailstorms of battle, she has seemed present with me. I have, in fancy, seen her on her knees before the Most High—my dear mother!—imploring for the life of her son, and I have believed in the efficacy of her prayers." "Give me the mothers of the nation to educate, and you may do what you like with the boys," was one of his favorite maxims.

In all the touching examples of the influence of motherhood, there is no story more tender than that of the devotion and the prayers that were rewarded finally by the conversion of St. Augustine. The heart-communion of son and mother was indeed "a fellowship of kindred minds."

The Mother of Napoleon.

The mother of Napoleon Bonaparte was the mother also of 12 other children, eight of whom were living when she was left a widow, at the age of 35. Napoleon said of her: "She managed everything, provided for everything with a prudence which could neither have been expected from her sex nor from her age. She watched over us with a solicitude unexampled. Every low sentiment, every ungenerous affection was discouraged and discarded. She suffered nothing but that which was grand and elevated to take root in our youthful understandings. She abhorred falsehood, and would not tolerate the slightest act of disobedience. None of our faults were overlooked. Losses, privations, fatigue, had no effect upon her. She endured all, braved all. She had the energy of a man, combined with the gentleness and delicacy of a woman."

Such was Napoleon's love for her that he confessed to his friend, when in exile at St. Helena, that in all his vicissitudes, once only had he been tempted to suicide, from which he was saved by a loan of a sum of money from a friend, which sum he sent at once to relieve the distress of his mother.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

East Liverpool people endorse our claim.

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employ at Sebring's pottery, who lives at 234 Second street, says: "I had been taking medicine for my kidneys right along and if I had found a cure I would have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with a quick twinge now and then while stooping or lifting, that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, and the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalding. Work seemed to be a drag, I had no energy and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint."

THE BIG STORE

BIG VOLUME OF SALES.

Large Number of Stocks and Bonds Were Sold In the Market on Wednesday.

New York, Feb. 7.—The trading in stocks and bonds Wednesday showed extraordinary volume and variety, the aggregate sales of all stocks reaching 1,964,200 shares, compared with the record of over 2,100,000 shares, which only exceeds them. The day's business in bonds was also very large, but it did not reach the level attained at various times in the bull market of the spring of 1899.

The opening bulge was most pronounced in the steel stocks under the influence of the growing belief in the plan to consolidate great steel combinations. The current belief in its accomplishment really underlay the whole speculative movement of the day, although there were other considerations which supplemented it. The most conspicuous movements in the steel stocks and the largest transactions were in Federal Steel and Steel and Wire. Federal Steel rose 3⅜ and the preferred 4¼. Steel and Wire rose 3 and the preferred 2. National Tube was up 3¾ and Republic Steel preferred 4¼. There were considerable reactions in this group, as well as in the whole group, after the opening bulge. The selling to take profits showed signs of urgency at many points in the railroad list and some of the leading stocks got from 1 to 2 points under Tuesday night. Those which have recently advanced most strongly were weakest on the decline. Pennsylvania, the coalers, the grangers, the southwesterns (including Atchison and Southern Pacific) and Louisville were all conspicuously heavy. Some of them remained comparatively heavy until the close, although the late volent recovery in the Readings and St. Paul effected the members of their respective groups. The late movement carried Reading first preferred 3⅛ over Tuesday night and Erie first preferred 2. Union Pacific yielded under the early profit taking, but took a very prominent part in the recovery, reaching a level of 4⅛ over Tuesday. Denver and Rio Grande made a sensational advance of 5⅛ and the preferred of 2⅛, while other Colorado stocks were effected to a less degree on the supposition that their amalgamation were imminent.

SYLVANIA BANK WRECKED.

Robbers Drove the People to Bed and Returned to Toledo on a Hand Car,

Toledo, O., Feb. 7.—Seven bank robbers left here on a hand car and wrecked the savings bank at Sylvania, a village in this county. They blew the vault to pieces and made eight explosions of nitroglycerine on the safe. They gagged the watchman and terrorized the village.

The robbers drove the people to bed, and returned to Toledo on the hand car. They got about $100. There was $12,000 in the safe, which was ruined.

Seven Prisoners Escaped.

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 7.—Seven prisoners, including Pearl Newman, convicted of murdering the Philadelphia actor, William J. McCauley, and Ben Higanbotham, charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Allan Dupriest, mayor of Culloden, escaped from the Cabell county jail.

LOW FARE TO WASHINGTON

For First Presidential Inauguration of Twentieth Century.

Excursion tickets to Washington will be sold via Pennsylvania lines March 1st, 2d and 3d, 1901, with return limit on all tickets including March 8.

The inauguration of President McKinley on March 4th will be the first event of that kind in the new century, and will attract notables from all over the country. The ceremonies will be impressive and the parade and festivities will be of an unusual character, interesting to all.

The trip to Washington may be made via Pennsylvania lines, at the low fares on through trains of modern railroad equipment. For details about fares and through services, apply to nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent.

A Possible Reason.

Freddie's father had just been struggling with an old fashioned bureau, and retiring disheartened from an unsuccessful effort to open one of its compartments he moved to the window and looking out upon the lowering sky exclaimed:

"It's mighty strange that the weather bureau can't give us a change of weather."

"Maybe," shyly interposed Freddie, "they can't open the bureau drawers."—Weekly Bouquet.

Advice.

"Young man," said Senator Sorghum, "if you want to succeed in politics never break your word."

"But are there not times when it is impossible to keep a promise?"

"To be sure. But you must make your arrangements so that you don't break the promise yourself. Put the blame on somebody else."—Washington Star.

No Trouble.

"I suppose," said the visitor, "it's like pulling teeth to get any money out of your husband these days?"

"Oh," chipped in little Tommy, before his mother could speak, "ma don't have any trouble pullin teeth. She just takes 'em out and puts 'em in a glass."—Philadelphia Record.

THE BON TON.

MOTHERS OF FAMOUS SONS.

By Mary Lowe Dickinson.

Henry Ward Beecher's Mother.

Henry Ward Beecher says of his mother: "I have only such a remembrance of her as you have of the clouds of ten years ago, yet no devout Catholic ever saw so much in the Virgin Mary as I have seen in my mother, who has been a presence to me ever since I can remember. Do you know why so often I speak what must seem to some of you rhapsody of woman? It is because I had a mother, and if I were to live a thousand years I could not express what seems to me to be the least that I owe her. From her I received my love of the beautiful, my poetic temperament, from her also I received simplicity and childlike faith in God."

She studied literature and history while she spun flax, tying her books to the distaff. No wonder then that her great son was an omniverous reader. She wrote and spoke the French language fluently, painted on ivory, sang and played on the guitar, and was an expert with her needle. So meager was the salary for the increasing household, only $400 a year, that she started a select school in which she taught French, drawing, painting and embroidery, beside the higher English branches. With all this work she found time to make herself the idol of her children.

Of Wendell Phillips, it is said that his love for his mother was a passion. "Her earliest gift to him," says Carlos Marty, "was a Bible. Her one counsel for him was, 'be good, do good.'" That Bible was his prized treasure for seventy years, and, says Mrs. Boulton, "Years after, when he stood up like a great oak in the forest, beat upon by wind and storm, he never forgot to keep his trust where his mother first taught him to place it. From her knowledge and common sense in political and mercantile affairs, he judged that other women must be able to take part in the world's work and therefore through life he asked for them an equal place in home and state."

The mother of the distinguished scientist, says a recent biography, was a woman of sweet and strong individuality, equipped with a solid, if unpretentious education, and endowed with rare abilities as a teacher. She was eminently qualified to deal with the plastic mind of her son, and it was to her judicious efforts, rather than to those of his father, that Edison owed that early impetus which gave him such admirable scope and direction to his dawning powers. Under her guidance, at the age of 12, a period when most boys are inflaming their imagination and perverting their moral sense with trashy and sensational fiction, Edison, partly from inclination, partly from over-consciousness, was wading through such ponderous tomes as Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy, Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Hume's History of England and History of the Reformation. We are justified in the reference that through such books as these, no boy, however remarkable, waded without the encouragement and companionship of the woman who could bestow not only the instructor's gift, but the mother's sympathy and love.

It was Samuel Johnson's mother to whom he said in his last letter: "You have been the best mother, and, I believe, the best woman in the world. I thank you for your indulgence to me, and beg forgiveness of all that I have done ill, and of all that I have omitted to do well." It was to defray her funeral expenses that in the evenings of one week he wrote Rasselas, for which he received five hundred dollars.

Bishop Hall speaks of his mother's life as saint-like. Never any lips so preached piety, never any soul that more accurately practiced it. He gave her credit for much of the character and influence that made him a power in the church.

"A Model for Mothers."

It was Garibaldi who says of his mother, a woman of humble station: "She was a model for mothers. Her tender affection for me has, perhaps been excessive; but I do not owe to her love, to her angel-like character, the little good that belongs to mine? Often, amidst the most arduous scenes of my tumultous life, when I have passed unharmed through the breakers of the ocean or the hailstorms of battle, she has seemed present with me. I have, in fancy, seen her on her knees before the Most High—my dear mother!—imploring for the life of her son, and I have believed in the efficacy of her prayers." "Give me the mothers of the nation to educate, and you may do what you like with the boys," was one of his favorite maxims.

In all the touching examples of the influence of motherhood, there is no story more tender than that of the devotion and the prayers that were rewarded finally by the conversion of St. Augustine. The heart-communion of son and mother was indeed "a fellowship of kindred minds."

The Mother of Napoleon.

The mother of Napoleon Bonaparte was the mother also of 12 other children, eight of whom were living when she was left a widow, at the age of 35. Napoleon said of her: "She managed everything, provided for everything with a prudence which could neither have been expected from her sex nor from her age. She watched over us with a solicitude unexampled. Every low sentiment, every ungenerous affection was discouraged and discarded. She suffered nothing but that which was grand and elevated to take root in our youthful understandings. She abhorred falsehood, and would not tolerate the slightest act of disobedience. None of our faults were overlooked. Losses, privations, fatigue, had no effect upon her. She endured all, braved all. She had the energy of a man, combined with the gentleness and delicacy of a woman."

Such was Napoleon's love for her that he confessed to his friend, when in exile at St. Helena, that in all his vicissitudes, once only had he been tempted to suicide, from which he was saved by a loan of a sum of money from a friend, which sum he sent at once to relieve the distress of his mother.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

East Liverpool people endorse our claim.

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employ at Sebring's pottery, who lives at 234 Second street, says: "I had been taking medicine for my kidneys right along and if I had found a cure I would have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with a quick twinge now and then while stooping or lifting, that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, and the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalding. Work seemed to be a drag. I had no energy and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1901.

TRADES COUNCIL.

The writer was granted the privilege and courtesy of addressing the Trades Council of East Liverpool last night on a matter of business. The home organization is a fine representative body.

PRESIDENT OF 318.

The president of Typographical Union No. 318 stated last night, in the presence of Trades Council, that the News Review office, in so far as 318 is concerned, is a full union office, Captain Palmer having duly signed the scale of that body and conformed to all its rules and regulations.

GOVERNOR NASH.

We will be very much disappointed in the chief magistrate of Ohio in case he fails to put out, or in, both Jeffries and Ruhlin, the professional prize fighters who contemplate thumping one another at Cincinnati. Governor Nash has said that he will stop the disgraceful affair, even if it be found necessary to call out the military arm of the law. For the sake of the fair fame of this great and grand commonwealth of Ohio, we hope that the governor will be as good as his word. Principals, seconds, backers and spectators alike should be arrested and punished to the full limit of an outraged law.

FAIR PLAY.

Every lover of fair play and justice in East Liverpool; every true unionist in all this section; every man or woman who is guided by the Golden Rule, will openly assert that the so-called pressmen's organization in this city is a fraud and a cheat and a swindle, without the shadow of law or justice back of it, and the men who are identified with it are either misled or openly desirous of perpetrating fraud, falsehood and injustice. Typographical Union No. 318 passed a resolution that the label of No. 318 should make all products turned out by the craft, in newspaper or job offices, a full union product, and that said label, as now thrown out in bold relief on our first page, constitutes a printing establishment a full union office in every particular. And 318, in order to make this emphatic, went before Trades Council and had the action endorsed by that body, and the record now stands on the books of our Trades Council of East Liverpool, and has never been rescinded. In the light of this record, are we not justified in the assertion that the fellows who are trying to make political candidates believe that the News Review office is an unfair office, in any particular, in composing room, press room or job room, are contemptible falsifiers and tricksters, full of malice and hate, and the very worst foes that any true union organization can have in their fold, and that such creatures are calculated to do untold and lasting harm to the cause of unionism in East Liverpool?

Further, contrary to all laws and rules and regulations of even the Pressmen's International Union, no charge has been preferred against this office by the so-called pressmen's association of this city, nor by any individual connected therewith, and no effort has been made to adjust or arbitrate. If men who will act in this manner can be called unionists, then may the fates preserve us, in company with all fair minded and honest men, from ever being associated with such so-called unionists. We await interesting developments, and they will surely materialize.

He Got Some Work to Do.

"Prisoner," said the learned magistrate to a lazy fellow before him, "this is the third time you've been here."

"But, your honor," pleaded the prisoner, "I've been trying to get work, but couldn't."

"Yes, I would, your honor."

"What kind of work?"

"Anything, your honor, so long as it was honest work."

"What kind of wages?"

"Wages is no object, your honor; all I want is work, with food and clothing and shelter."

"And you'd work if you had that sort of a job?"

"Indeed, I would, your honor; only try me," and the tears actually came into his eyes.

"Very well," said the magistrate kindly, "we'll give you a job with shelter, food and clothing combined. Six months' hard labor. Next case."—Tit-Bits.

SHERMAN T. HERBERT
THE HOME CANDIDATE

There Will Be No Other Candidate In This City For Position Of County Treasurer.

J. W. IRWIN HAS WITHDRAWN FROM THE RACE

Yesterday J. W. Irwin, of this city, formally announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the position of county treasurer.

This leaves East Liverpool with but one candidate in the field, the present city treasurer, Sherman T. Herbert, and he will enter the fight with almost the solid Republican vote of this city back of him.

He is a man of whom the Republican party is proud to honor, and it would be hard to find a man more popular or more respected in the community.

East Liverpool is entitled to the county treasureship, as the office has never been filled from this city, and in Mr. Herbert we have a candidate that will do credit to his constituents and to himself should he be elected to the office to which he aspires.

Sherm Herbert, as he is called by his friends, is a self-made man, and has always been a resident of East Liverpool. He entered the employ of the Potters National bank of this city when a mere boy and by hard and steady work rose to the position of paying teller of that institution. After a service of 13 years he decided to leave the bank and engage in the insurance business. His resignation was accepted with reluctance by the directors of the bank and he left the institution with the best wishes for success by the officials and patrons.

He engaged in the insurance business for some time, and at the earnest solicitation of friends was induced to become a candidate for city treasurer in 1896. He was nominated by a handsome majority and was elected by one of the largest votes ever given a Republican candidate in the city. He has served two terms as city treasurer and is just now entering upon his third term, having been elected last spring without opposition. He has served the city well in this capacity and has made one of the best treasurers the city ever had. He is at all times genial and accommodating and it is a pleasure to do business with him.

Mr. Herbert is also connected with the Union Building, Loan & Trust company, of this city, and the Hancock County Building & Loan company, acting in the capacity of secretary of each company.

He enjoys the esteem, confidence and respect of the directors and patrons of these two solid institutions, with which he has been connected since their incorporation.

As a Republican he has always been found working to the best interests of his party and has served it to the best of his ability.

His character is above reproach, and should he be chosen by the Republicans of the county to represent them as a candidate for county treasurer, they know full well the funds of the county will be in the keeping of a man who is well qualified to fill the office and one who will work to the best interests of the county.

It is the duty of every voter of the city to go to the polls on March 4 and cast his ballot for Sherman T. Herbert, as they have a man they can support without fear that he will ever bring discredit to the city which he honors as his home. He should receive the solid home vote.

The Parson and the Skipper.

An old globe circler says that in going around the world there is scarcely one traveler in a hundred who remembers that in going from east to west a day is gained and that in going from west to east a day is lost. Many of those who come into contact with this truth knew all about it when they were at school, but never think of it on the high seas. In illustration of the point he tells this story:

"My first trip around the world was from England to Australia. Out in the middle of the Pacific a sign was put announcing that the date was Thursday, July 17. This was all right, but the next day the same sign was put up again. This was an opportunity for those of us who thought we were real wise to show the ship's officers that they were not infallible. After we had expended our choicest sarcasm and had been rebuffed by various officers the captain set us straight.

"On my way back one day the card went up announcing that it was Saturday, Aug. 13. The next day the sign said Monday, Aug. 15. Two ministers on board thought the captain a somewhat profane old salt, who had skipped a day to avoid the religious services which they had prepared. He convinced them that it was a mere coincidence that on that particular date the lost day was Sunday. Since then I have never attempted to teach the ship's navigator his business, and he can skip a century if he wishes without my saying a word."—Baltimore Sun.

Situate on the lower side of the extension of Bank street, a paved street which leaves off east side of Avondale street three squares up, lies our

ALPHA ADDITION.

We haven't been saying much about this plan of lots. Rather been letting it take care of itself. In 90 days spring will be here and people, like birds, will be thinking of house building, hence, we now call your especial attention to it. We don't claim that its the finest lying addition in the city, but we do claim that these lots are the best to be had for the money within the same distance from the business center. They are of easy access by reason of the paved street leading to them. Water and gas are there. They have good drainage. They are high enough to be above the fog and smoke, yet not so very far away that street cars are necessary to reach them, nor so high as to be exposed to the fury of the storm, wintry blast or summer heat. Further, while they last there is not a family in the city but what can own a home here within a very short time, for we make the following liberal offer: We will sell them at $5 cash down, and payments thereafter, averaging $1 per week, with low rate of interest and when you have paid one-half of the purchase price of the lot, we will have erected for you, according to your own plans, a house of three, four or five rooms, substantially built and complete in every respect, which you can then occupy and pay off the balance in payments from $8 to $12 per month, according to price of house. Your rent is costing you that now. Is it not possible for you to spare $1 a week until you pay a lot one-half off. The prices range from $150 to $275 the Lot.

BETA PLAN OF LOTS.

About a score of lots here for sale. They lie on the north and south side of a slightly elevated ridge, a street 50 feet wide running east and west occupying its summit and separating the lots in two tiers. A good view is obtained of the surrounding country, the scope of which takes in Thompson's Boulevard and Park, Riverview Cemetery, part of Gardendale and Maplewood. A beautiful place for a suburban home you will admit upon seeing them. Street cars will be passing this allotment by May. One is as good as another and they are all good, hence we sell at $125 for choice, payable $10 down and balance $5 per month.

GAMMA ADDITION.

We had 18 lots here, but a number have been sold. No prettier or nicer lying land in East End than this addition. Several new houses are in the course of erection and prices are stiffening in the locality. $300 is the full market value, but we still are selling at $250 each, payable $25 down and $10 monthly. No one can make any mistake in buying in East End, for events are trending for its development and improvement.

PLEASANT HEIGHTS.

This addition is well known to all. Residences here will be prized by many on account of the pure atmosphere and beautiful view obtained. We have quite a number of lots here. In contemplation of the completion of street car transit to this suburb and the opening up of the shorter route to the city by way of Sheridan avenue, May and Pleasant streets, people are buying these lots. We have a number of the choice ones to offer you at $100, $115 and $125, payable $10 down and $5 monthly.

This ad. we devote to these Four Additions—we do not want you to forget, however, that we have properties improved and unimproved, in all parts of the city and vicinity for sale.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1901.

TRADES COUNCIL.

The writer was granted the privilege and courtesy of addressing the Trades Council of East Liverpool last night on a matter of business. The home organization is a fine representative body.

PRESIDENT OF 318.

The president of Typographical Union No. 318 stated last night, in the presence of Trades Council, that the News Review office, in so far as 318 is concerned, is a full union office, Captain Palmer having duly signed the scale of that body and conformed to all its rules and regulations.

GOVERNOR NASH.

We will be very much disappointed in the chief magistrate of Ohio in case he fails to put out, or in, both Jeffries and Ruhlin, the professional prize fighters who contemplate thumping one another at Cincinnati. Governor Nash has said that he will stop the disgraceful affair, even if it be found necessary to call out the military arm of the law. For the sake of the fair fame of this great and grand commonwealth of Ohio, we hope that the governor will be as good as his word. Principals, seconds, backers and spectators alike should be arrested and punished to the full limit of an outraged law.

FAIR PLAY.

Every lover of fair play and justice in East Liverpool; every true unionist in all this section; every man or woman who is guided by the Golden Rule, will openly assert that the so-called pressmen's organization in this city is a fraud and a cheat and a swindle, without the shadow of law or justice back of it, and the men who are identified with it are either misled or openly desirous of perpetrating fraud, falsehood and injustice. Typographical Union No. 318 passed a resolution that the label of No. 318 should make all products turned out by the craft, in newspaper or job offices, a full union product, and that said label, as now thrown out in bold relief on our first page, constitutes a printing establishment a full union office in every particular. And 318, in order to make this emphatic, went before Trades Council and had the action endorsed by that body, and the record now stands on the books of our Trades Council of East Liverpool, and has never been rescinded. In the light of this record, are we not justified in the assertion that the fellows who are trying to make political candidates believe that the News Review office is an unfair office, in any particular, in composing room, press room or job room, are contemptible falsifiers and tricksters, full of malice and hate, and the very worst foes that any true union organization can have in their fold, and that such creatures are calculated to do untold and lasting harm to the cause of unionism in East Liverpool?

Further, contrary to all laws and rules and regulations of even the Pressmen's International Union, no charge has been preferred against this office by the so-called pressmen's association of this city, nor by any individual connected therewith, and no effort has been made to adjust or arbitrate. If men who will act in this manner can be called unionists, then may the fates preserve us, in company with all fair minded and honest men, from ever being associated with such so-called unionists. We await interesting developments, and they will surely materialize.

There Will Be No Other Candidate In This City For Position Of County Treasurer.

This leaves East Liverpool with but one candidate in the field, the present city treasurer, Sherman T. Herbert, and he will enter the fight with almost the solid Republican vote of this city back of him.

He is a man of whom the Republican party is proud to honor, and it would be hard to find a man more popular or more respected in the community.

East Liverpool is entitled to the county treasureship, as the office has never been filled from this city, and in Mr. Herbert we have a candidate that will do credit to his constituents and to himself should he be elected to the office to which he aspires.

Sherm Herbert, as he is called by his friends, is a self-made man, and has always been a resident of East Liverpool. He entered the employ of the Potters National bank of this city when a mere boy and by hard and steady work rose to the position of paying teller of that institution. After a service of 13 years he decided to leave the bank and engage in the insurance business. His resignation was accepted with reluctance by the directors of the bank and he left the institution with the best wishes for success by the officials and patrons.

He engaged in the insurance business for some time, and at the earnest solicitation of friends was induced to become a candidate for city treasurer in 1896. He was nominated by a handsome majority and was elected by one of the largest votes ever given a Republican candidate in the city. He has served two terms as city treasurer and is just now entering upon his third term, having been elected last spring without opposition. He has served the city well in this capacity and has made one of the best treasurers the city ever had. He is at all times genial and accommodating and it is a pleasure to do business with him.

Mr. Herbert is also connected with the Union Building, Loan & Trust company, of this city, and the Hancock County Building & Loan company, acting in the capacity of secretary of each company.

He enjoys the esteem, confidence and respect of the directors and patrons of these two solid institutions, with which he has been connected since their incorporation.

As a Republican he has always been found working to the best interests of his party and has served it to the best of his ability.

His character is above reproach, and should he be chosen by the Republicans of the county to represent them as a candidate for county treasurer, they know full well the funds of the county will be in the keeping of a man who is well qualified to fill the office and one who will work to the best interests of the county.

It is the duty of every voter of the city to go to the polls on March [illegible] and cast his ballot for Sherman T. Herbert, as they have a man they can support without fear that he will ever bring discredit to the city which he honors as his home. He should receive the solid home vote.

He Got Some Work to Do.

"Prisoner," said the learned magistrate to a lazy fellow before him, "this is the third time you've been here."

"Yes, I would, your honor."

"What kind of work?"

"Anything, your honor, so long as it was honest work."

"Wages is no object, your honor; all I want is work, with food and clothing and shelter."

"And you'd work if you had that sort of a job?"

"Indeed, I would, your honor; only try me," and the tears actually came into his eyes.

"Very well," said the magistrate kindly, "we'll give you a job with shelter, food and clothing combined. Six months' hard labor. Next case."—Tit-Bits.

The Parson and the Skipper.

An old globe circler says that in going around the world there is scarcely one traveler in a hundred who remembers that in going from east to west a day is gained and that in going from west to east a day is lost. Many of those who come into contact with this truth knew all about it when they were at school, but never think of it on the high seas. In illustration of the point he tells this story:

"My first trip around the world was from England to Australia. Out in the middle of the Pacific a sign was put announcing that the date was Thursday, July 17. This was all right, but the next day the same sign was put up again. This was an opportunity for those of us who thought we were real wise to show the ship's officers that they were not infallible. After we had expended our choicest sarcasm and had been rebuffed by various officers the captain set us straight.

"On my way back one day the card went up announcing that it was Saturday, Aug. 13. The next day the sign said Monday, Aug. 15. Two ministers on board thought the captain a somewhat profane old salt, who had skipped a day to avoid the religious services which they had prepared. He convinced them that it was a mere coincidence that on that particular date the lost day was Sunday. Since then I have never attempted to teach the ship's navigator his business, and he can skip a century if he wishes without my saying a word."—Baltimore Sun.

ALPHA ADDITION.

We haven't been saying much about this plan of lots. Rather been letting it take care of itself. In 90 days spring will be here and people, like birds, will be thinking of house building, hence, we now call your especial attention to it. We don't claim that its the finest lying addition in the city, but we do claim that these lots are the best to be had for the money within the same distance from the business center. They are of easy access by reason of the paved street leading to them. Water and gas are there. They have good drainage. They are high enough to be above the fog and smoke, yet not so very far away that street cars are necessary to reach them, nor so high as to be exposed to the fury of the storm, wintry blast or summer heat. Further, while they last there is not a family in the city but what can own a home here within a very short time, for we make the following liberal offer: We will sell them at $5 cash down, and payments thereafter, averaging $1 per week, with low rate of interest and when you have paid one-half of the purchase price of the lot, we will have erected for you, according to your own plans, a house of three, four or five rooms, substantially built and complete in every respect, which you can then occupy and pay off the balance in payments from $8 to $12 per month, according to price of house. Your rent is costing you that now. Is it not possible for you to spare $1 a week until you pay a lot one-half off. The prices range from

BETA PLAN OF LOTS.

About a score of lots here for sale. They lie on the north and south side of a slightly elevated ridge, a street 50 feet wide running east and west occupying its summit and separating the lots in two tiers. A good view is obtained of the surrounding country, the scope of which takes in Thompson's Boulevard and Park, Riverview Cemetery, part of Gardendale and Maplewood. A beautiful place for a suburban home you will admit upon seeing them. Street cars will be passing this allotment by May. One is as good as another and they are all good, hence we sell at $125 for choice, payable $10 down and balance $5 per month.

GAMMA ADDITION.

We had 18 lots here, but a number have been sold. No prettier or nicer lying land in East End than this addition. Several new houses are in the course of erection and prices are stiffening in the locality. $300 is the full market value, but we still are selling at $250 each, payable $25 down and $10 monthly. No one can make any mistake in buying in East End, for events are trending for its development and improvement.

PLEASANT HEIGHTS.

This addition is well known to all. Residences here will be prized by many on account of the pure atmosphere and beautiful view obtained. We have quite a number of lots here. In contemplation of the completion of street car transit to this suburb and the opening up of the shorter route to the city by way of Sheridan avenue, May and Pleasant streets, people are buying these lots. We have a number of the choice ones to offer you at $100, $115 and $125, payable $10 down and $5 monthly.

This ad. we devote to these Four Additions—we do not want you to forget, however, that we have properties improved and unimproved, in all parts of the city and vicinity for sale.

MAY BE SETTLED IN COURT

A few days ago F. F. White, representing a building and loan association of Cleveland, O., announced that his company would start a branch in the East End. On the strength of this announcement he succeeded in obtaining subscribers for about 100 shares of stock, upon which a premium of $1 per share was assessd, while the stock was to be paid for at the rate of 50 cents a share per month. It was learned from one of the East End stockholders today that the home company claim that they never intended to start a branch here; and consequently a number of East End people find that they have subscribed for stock in a Cleveland association.

Another stockholder states that they will have their money back or know the reason why, and it seems probable that a combined legal action on the part of the East End subscribers may be commenced against the company.

Miss Odie Beatty Fell Forward Just As She Reached the Elevator.

Miss Odie Beatty, who has been ill for some time, returned to her work in the decorating department at the Globe pottery yesterday morning, and shortly after beginning work called to a lady friend, stating that she was sick. In company with her friend she started to leave the shop and had just reached the elevator when she fell forward. The elevator had just come to that floor, and had she reached there a few moments sooner she would have fallen down the opening, undoubtedly with a fatal result. She was taken home by her friend and is somewhat better today.

Mrs. Minnie Ammon Has Filed an Affidavit Against Her Husband.

Mrs. Minnie Ammon, of East End, has filed an affidavit in the court of Justice McCarron, charging her husband, John Ammon, with the non-support of their six-year-old daughter.

Ammon is employed at the Walker works, and his wife alleges that he moved her and the child to East End so they would be out of the way, and since that time she has had a great deal of difficulty in providing a home, food and clothing for the little one. She has become weary of this manner of living and has taken the above course in order that her husband be compelled to share the expense of maintaining their daughter.

The case was settled by Ammon agreeing to pay $3 per week.

THE FIRST FIRE FOR SOUTH SIDE

The Village of Chester Was Visited by a Disastrous Blaze Last Evening.

RESIDENCE OF E. A. GOOD

Burned to the Ground and the Entire Contents of the House Was Destroyed.

MISS MORROW GAVE THE ALARM

At about 11 o'clock last night the residence of E. A. Good, located at the corner of Carolina avenue and Fifth street, caught fire and was burned to the ground.

All that remains of the house is the chimney, which still stands intact. All the furniture except a few chairs and a table was destroyed with the house, and William Glendenning, who boarded with Mr. Good, lost $75 in cash, which he had left in the kitchen cupboard.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It was first discovered by Miss Mame Morrow, who lives with E. D. Marshall, and she was the first to give the alarm.

Among the first on the ground was Conductor Deitz, of the Rock Springs railway line, who came near being suffocated when he entered the house. He received a painful injury on his wrist, caused by running his arm through a window.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out, Mr. Good being at Connellsville, Pa., and his wife having attended the theater in East Liverpool.

The fire originated between the roof and ceiling, and although a number of people were present shortly after it broke out, nothing could be done, as no fire brigade has ever been formed and there was no water near the house.

The house was a four-roomed structure, cheaply built and including the furniture was supposed to be worth about $800.

The insurance on the house and furniture was about $500.

Another Small Fire.

PAINT ON INDIAN FACES.

Nearly All of It Means Something to Those Initiated.

The fact of the matter is that every paint mark on an Indian's face is a sign with a definite meaning which other Indians may read. When an Indian puts on his full war paint, he decks himself not only with his own individual honors and distinctions won by his own bravery, but also with the special honors of his family or tribe. He may possess one mark of distinction only or many. In fact, he may be so well off in this respect that, like some English noblemen, he is able to don a new distinction for every occasion. Sometimes he will wear all his honors at one time.

Among the Indian tribes is one designated by the symbol of the dogfish, painted in red on the face. The various parts of the fish are scattered heterogeneously on the surface of the face; the peculiarly long snout is painted on the forehead, the gills are represented by two curved lines below the eyes, while the tail is shown as cut in two and hanging from either nostril. When only one or two parts of an animal are painted on a man's face, it is an indication of inferiority; when the whole animal appears, even though in many oddly assorted parts, the sign is one of great value and indicates a high rank.

Very peculiar are some of the honorable symbols painted on the Indians' faces. There are fish, flesh and fowl of all kinds—dog salmon, devilfish, starfish, woodpeckers, eagles, ravens, wolves, bears, sea lions and sea monsters, mosquitoes, frogs, mountain goats and all manner of foot, claw or beak marks—each with a special meaning of its own.—Pearson's Magazine.

MAY BE SETTLED IN COURT

A few days ago F. F. White, representing a building and loan association of Cleveland, O., announced that his company would start a branch in the East End. On the strength of this announcement he succeeded in obtaining subscribers for about 100 shares of stock, upon which a premium of $1 per share was assessd, while the stock was to be paid for at the rate of 50 cents a share per month. It was learned from one of the East End stockholders today that the home company claim that they never intended to start a branch here; and consequently a number of East End people find that they have subscribed for stock in a Cleveland association.

Another stockholder states that they will have their money back or know the reason why, and it seems probable that a combined legal action on the part of the East End subscribers may be commenced against the company.

A CLOSE CALL.

Miss Odie Beatty Fell Forward Just As She Reached the Elevator.

Miss Odie Beatty, who has been ill for some time, returned to her work in the decorating department at the Globe pottery yesterday morning, and shortly after beginning work called to a lady friend, stating that she was sick. In company with her friend she started to leave the shop and had just reached the elevator when she fell forward. The elevator had just come to that floor, and had she reached there a few moments sooner she would have fallen down the opening, undoubtedly with a fatal result. She was taken home by her friend and is somewhat better today.

THE FIRST FIRE FOR SOUTH SIDE

The Village of Chester Was Visited by a Disastrous Blaze Last Evening.

RESIDENCE OF E. A. GOOD

MISS MORROW GAVE THE ALARM

At about 11 o'clock last night the residence of E. A. Good, located at the corner of Carolina avenue and Fifth street, caught fire and was burned to the ground.

All that remains of the house is the chimney, which still stands intact. All the furniture except a few chairs and a table was destroyed with the house, and William Glendenning, who boarded with Mr. Good, lost $75 in cash, which he had left in the kitchen cupboard.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It was first discovered by Miss Mame Morrow, who lives with E. D. Marshall, and she was the first to give the alarm.

Among the first on the ground was Conductor Deitz, of the Rock Springs railway line, who came near being suffocated when he entered the house. He received a painful injury on his wrist, caused by running his arm through a window.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out, Mr. Good being at Connellsville, Pa., and his wife having attended the theater in East Liverpool.

The fire originated between the roof and ceiling, and although a number of people were present shortly after it broke out, nothing could be done, as no fire brigade has ever been formed and there was no water near the house.

The house was a four-roomed structure, cheaply built and including the furniture was supposed to be worth about $800.

The insurance on the house and furniture was about $500.

Another Small Fire.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening the roof of George Fulton's house caught fire from burning soot in a defective flue, but in the absence of a ladder W. F. McBee climbed a pole and extinguished the flames before any damage was done.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—May Levy, a 13-year-old girl, daughter of a salesman on Webster avenue, who has been blind since her birth, and until recently was an inmate of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind, can now see.

About a month ago the girl heard of another child being cured of blindness and asked to be taken to A. L. Krewson, of Allegheny. She insisted that she could be healed, and after the first visit of the sightless girl she began to distinguish things, and her vision has become steadily better, until she needs no one now to conduct her to her room.

The child's parents had made every effort to have the sight restored to their blind child's eyes, and she has submitted to 19 surgical operations, all of which have been unsuccessful. Mr. Krewson said to be healed one must only believe in the power of God.

STEEL DEAL ASSURED?

SEMI-OFFICIAL STATEMENT SO INDICATED.

Yet Carnegie and Morgan Were Both Silent For Publication—An Admission by Schwab.

New York, Feb. 7.—It was said that by the purchase of Andrew Carnegie's interest, a syndicate representing the Federal Steel, American Steel and Wire and four more steel companies, of which J. P. Morgan is the head, is alleged to have acquired control of the Carnegie Steel company. News that the deal was practically closed came from a reliable quarter and was generally accepted in financial and industrial circles. While both Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Morgan preserved silence, the following statement was issued from a semi-official quarter:

"The syndicate purchased from Mr. Carnegie his holdings of the Carnegie company stock, something less than $87,000,000 in par value in the $1,000 shares of the company. Mr. Carnegie will retain his holdings of the Carnegie company's collateral trust 5 per cent bonds of which he is supposed to hold about $100,000,000 out of a total issue of $160,000,000. The company to be formed will guarantee payment of interest on this issue of the bonds, thus maintaining their priority of lien."

The reported sale of Mr. Carnegie's stock was followed by the wildest reports regarding a $1,000,000,000 steel corporation, having, as one publication puts it, "the earth at its mercy." The writer has been informed by a reliable authority that there will be no consolidation in the strict sense of the word. Mr. Morgan merely proposes to rule the steel properties as he does the railroads—by harmony through community of interests and ownership.

President Charles Schwab, of the Carnegie Steel company, unbent so far from his accustomed silence to admit Wednesday at the Holland house that the Morgan-Carnegie situation was "very interesting," but that he could not talk. The writer made an effort to see officials of the four Moore companies, as well as the American Steel and Wire and National Tube companies. The chorus of denials was simply deafening. Still, no one is taking them seriously.

PROPOSED LENTEN SERVICES.

Some Plans Made to Hold Them In a Pittsburg Church.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—Arrangements were made for the coming midday Lenten services which were to be held by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. The first service will be held on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20. These 25-minute services are held at noon of every day during Lent, except Sunday. For the past two years the services were held in St. Peter's church, but as that structure is now being razed, they will be held this year in Trinity. The following were contained in the arrangements:

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead will conduct the first service. A number of speakers of ability have been secured for the meetings, among them being the Rev. J. O. S. Huntington, the Rev. G. C. Hall, of Delaware; the Rev. Dr. C. D. Williams, of Cleveland; the Rev. R. W. Patton, of Lynchburg, and the Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel. Special music has also been arranged for.

TWO ARRESTS MADE.

Prominent American and Spaniard Accused of Furnishing Supplies to Philippine Rebels.

Manila, Feb. 7.—Theodorio Carranza, a prominent and wealthy Spanish merchant and hemp and cocoanut buyer, was arrested charged with furnishing supplies to aid the insurgents. Carranza is also a partner of D. M. Carman, an American contractor and owner of boats, who had considerable transportation contracts with the government. The provost marshal and secret service officers had been watching a number of merchants and transportation men for some time past. The police officials had a long interview with Carranza and the arrest of several merchants was expected to result.

Carranza was placed in confinement in the Anda street police station. Carman was arrested last night, and, after considerable questioning, was sent to the same station. The men are charged with the conducting of the business of buying copra (the dried kernel of the cocoanut broken up for export) from insurgent presidentes at Pagsanjan, in the eastern extremity of Laguna de Bay, and also with paying assesments for the insurgent cause. The evidence adduced was to the effect that the prisoners have supplies of the striped clothing used for insurgent uniforms. Both the insurgent presidentes, who claim to have dealth with Carranza and Carman, are now imprisoned in Manila. One of them, Fabella, fears hanging, because he was captured as an insurgent after having sworn allegiance to the United States. He made strong statements tending to implicate Carman and Carranza, and confirming the statements of Reyes, who became presidente of Pagsanjan after Fabella's arrest.

The police have letters and verbal statements from Carman, which sought Fabella's release, asserting that he was a patriotic American subject.

According to papers found, both the presidentes are culpable insurgents. Carranza and Carman admit trading with insurgents, but deny contributing to their cause or furnishing them with supplies.

Carman is one of the best known Americans in Manila. He has a monopoly of carrying goods, going through the custom house, ashore from the ships, and has made a great deal of money. He possessed the confidence of General Otis.

Other Manila merchants are being investigated.

Manila, Feb. 7.—The amended provincial government bill may have passed and the commission, it was expected, will leave here Tuesday to organize governments in the provinces of Pangasinan and Tarlac. After the commissioners return from their tour, it was expected, they will organize Zambales, Bataan, Bulacau, Nueva, Ecijas and Cagayan. The latter, a northern province, was added by General MacArthur to the list of those regarded as ready for provincial government.

The commission was visted by six head hunting Igorrotes from the province of Bonteo. They were immensely entertained by the sights of Manila and expressed a liking for Americans.

The generals were much congratulated on President McKinley's nominations.

MONEY FOR MILITIA.

Gov. Nash Authorized to Spend $50,000 For Soldiers.

TO PREVENT THE PRIZE FIGHT.

At the Hearing In Cincinnati, the Opponents of the Proposed Nuisance Made a Point, on the Admission of Marquis of Queensberry Rules.

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—At Governor Nash's request the state emergency board authorized him to incur any expense necessary, not exceeding $50,000, in the use of state militia to prevent the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest at Cincinnati.

Thisleft no question about the governor's intention to use the military arm of the state if the law should fail to prevent the fight. Governor Nash believes the executive has no power to call out the militia without a request from the sheriff or the mayor, and it is thought he has arranged with Sheriff Taylor, of Hamilton county, that the latter shall call for troops in case they are necessary to stop the fight.

Cincinnati, Feb. 7.—The second day of the Jeffries-Ruhlin prizefight cases in court brought no indication as to when the hearing would be concluded. The state was making efforts to show that the fights scheduled for this city Feb. 15 are a public nuisance under the provisions of the Ohio law and on that ground a permanent injunction is asked for. The promoters of the fight and their counsel were contesting moves made by the state, and if Judge Holister shall refuse to grant a restraining order the Saengerfest Athletic association announces it will proceed to pull off the boxing contest under the permit of Mayor Fleischmann, notwithstanding the radical action taken by Governor Nash and other state officials since last Saturday, and especially Wednesday.

The sale of seats, the training at the quarters of Jeffries, Ruhlin, Martin and Childs, the work of arranging boxes and seats at the big hall, and all other preparations for the event one week from next Friday night were proceeding Wednesday. It was evident that everything will be completed and in readiness before a decison by Judge Hollister shall be rendered. The only suspension seemed to be in withholding the lithographs and other display advertising of the event. These, it was asserted, will be rapidly distributed if Judge Hollister shall refuse to grant an injunction.

Fenton Lawson, director and secretary in both the musical and athletic association, was the principal witness Wednesday. It is thought that the attorneys for the injunction went over everything with him, so that the examinations of the other directors and members of the Saengerfest Athletic association will not take up much time.

The most important witness was Mayor Fleischmann, who testified to the conditions under which he granted the permit for the fight and who held that he was justified in so doing, as he gave a permit for a boxing contest, which should come within the laws of Ohio.

Louis P. Ezekiel, who has all the privileges for programs and souvenirs for the event, was an interesting witness, because he stated that he intended to publish an official copy of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry in the souvenir. This led to discussions as to hte admission of a copy of those rules in evidence.

Henry Straus, at whose cigar store tickets are on sale, was kept on the stand most of the afternoon Wednesday. Straus in part told of the great demand for tickets.

According to the evidence of Straus the bout between Jeffries and Ruhlin was to be a boxing contest and not a prizefight, and he felt confident that he was not selling tickets for an illegal performance, but for one that came within the provisions of the laws of Ohio. The examination of witnesses was conducted by Lawrence Maxwell and Judge Peck, but a feature of the afternoon session was an argument between John M. Warrington and Judge Moses Wilson on the competency of the admission of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry in evidence. Warrington held that a newspaper annual, which contained these rules, was recognized as good authority and should be admitted as evidence. The court overruled the objection of Wilson and the pamphlet was admitted as evidence, subject to any changes that the defense might make from authentic sources. As the contracts that have been entered into provide for contests under these rules the attorneys for the injunction considered that they had made a strong point in their efforts to show that the event here on Feb. 15 is to be a prizefight for the championship rather than a boxing contest. The attorneys for the injunction read these rules in open court with great effort and commented on the brutality that was possible under them. They also read with dramatic effect accounts from the newspapers of the fights that Jeffries and Ruhlin had participated in to show what might be expected of them when they meet for a championship contest on Feb. 15.

CALLS TO TWO MINISTERS.

Rev. Dr. Fulton Visits Pittsburg—Hudnut's Intentions to Be Ascertained.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Rev. Dr. William S. Fulton, of Lexington, Ky., arrived in the city and was to lead the prayer meeting in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church last night. He had not made up his mind as to what he will do with regard to the call which this church has extended to him. The several organizations of his church in Kentucky have entered protests against his leaving the field where he has been for about 17 years. The ultimate decison must be made by the presbytery of Transylvania. The Kentucky presbyteries are very loth to part with any of their members, as it is difficult to supply the churches in that state. Dr. Fulton will fill the pulpit of the Point Breeze church next Sunday morning and night.

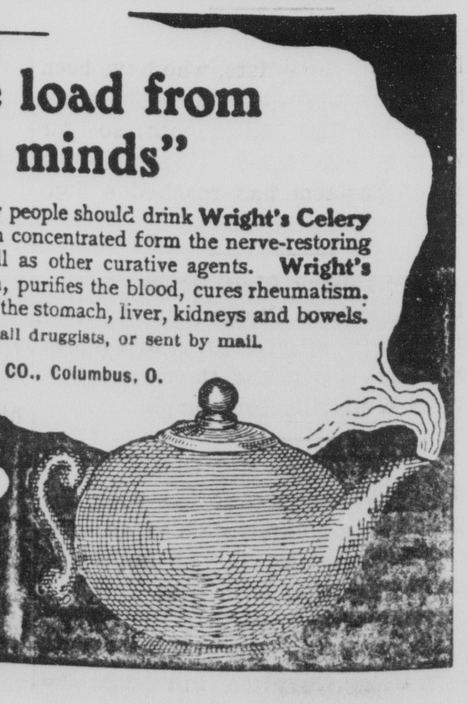

Another congregational meeting of the Bellevue Presbyterian church was called for last night to make a second effort to make out a call for the Rev. William Herbert Hudnut, of Youngstown, as pastor. The meeting about a week ago was postponed to see whether Mr. Hudnut would give the church assurances that he would accept the call if it should be tendered.

Prominent American and Spaniard Accused of Furnishing Supplies to Philippine Rebels.

Manila, Feb. 7.—Theodorio Carranza, a prominent and wealthy Spanish merchant and hemp and cocoanut buyer, was arrested charged with furnishing supplies to aid the insurgents. Carranza is also a partner of D. M. Carman, an American contractor and owner of boats, who had considerable transportation contracts with the government. The provost marshal and secret service officers had been watching a number of merchants and transportation men for some time past. The police officials had a long interview with Carranza and the arrest of several merchants was expected to result.

Carranza was placed in confinement in the Anda street police station. Carman was arrested last night, and, after considerable questioning, was sent to the same station. The men are charged with the conducting of the business of buying copra (the dried kernel of the cocoanut broken up for export) from insurgent presidentes at Pagsanjan, in the eastern extremity of Laguna de Bay, and also with paying assesments for the insurgent cause. The evidence adduced was to the effect that the prisoners have supplies of the striped clothing used for insurgent uniforms. Both the insurgent presidentes, who claim to have dealth with Carranza and Carman, are now imprisoned in Manila. One of them, Fabella, fears hanging, because he was captured as an insurgent after having sworn allegiance to the United States. He made strong statements tending to implicate Carman and Carranza, and confirming the statements of Reyes, who became presidente of Pagsanjan after Fabella's arrest.

The police have letters and verbal statements from Carman, which sought Fabella's release, asserting that he was a patriotic American subject.

According to papers found, both the presidentes are culpable insurgents. Carranza and Carman admit trading with insurgents, but deny contributing to their cause or furnishing them with supplies.

Carman is one of the best known Americans in Manila. He has a monopoly of carrying goods, going through the custom house, ashore from the ships, and has made a great deal of money. He possessed the confidence of General Otis.

Other Manila merchants are being investigated.

Manila, Feb. 7.—The amended provincial government bill may have passed and the commission, it was expected, will leave here Tuesday to organize governments in the provinces of Pangasinan and Tarlac. After the commissioners return from their tour, it was expected, they will organize Zambales, Bataan, Bulacau, Nueva, Ecijas and Cagayan. The latter, a northern province, was added by General MacArthur to the list of those regarded as ready for provincial government.

The commission was visted by six head hunting Igorrotes from the province of Bonteo. They were immensely entertained by the sights of Manila and expressed a liking for Americans.

The generals were much congratulated on President McKinley's nominations.

MONEY FOR MILITIA.

Gov. Nash Authorized to Spend $50,000 For Soldiers.

TO PREVENT THE PRIZE FIGHT.

At the Hearing In Cincinnati, the Opponents of the Proposed Nuisance Made a Point, on the Admission of Marquis of Queensberry Rules.

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—At Governor Nash's request the state emergency board authorized him to incur any expense necessary, not exceeding $50,000, in the use of state militia to prevent the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest at Cincinnati.

Thisleft no question about the governor's intention to use the military arm of the state if the law should fail to prevent the fight. Governor Nash believes the executive has no power to call out the militia without a request from the sheriff or the mayor, and it is thought he has arranged with Sheriff Taylor, of Hamilton county, that the latter shall call for troops in case they are necessary to stop the fight.

Cincinnati, Feb. 7.—The second day of the Jeffries-Ruhlin prizefight cases in court brought no indication as to when the hearing would be concluded. The state was making efforts to show that the fights scheduled for this city Feb. 15 are a public nuisance under the provisions of the Ohio law and on that ground a permanent injunction is asked for. The promoters of the fight and their counsel were contesting moves made by the state, and if Judge Holister shall refuse to grant a restraining order the Saengerfest Athletic association announces it will proceed to pull off the boxing contest under the permit of Mayor Fleischmann, notwithstanding the radical action taken by Governor Nash and other state officials since last Saturday, and especially Wednesday.

The sale of seats, the training at the quarters of Jeffries, Ruhlin, Martin and Childs, the work of arranging boxes and seats at the big hall, and all other preparations for the event one week from next Friday night were proceeding Wednesday. It was evident that everything will be completed and in readiness before a decison by Judge Hollister shall be rendered. The only suspension seemed to be in withholding the lithographs and other display advertising of the event. These, it was asserted, will be rapidly distributed if Judge Hollister shall refuse to grant an injunction.

Fenton Lawson, director and secretary in both the musical and athletic association, was the principal witness Wednesday. It is thought that the attorneys for the injunction went over everything with him, so that the examinations of the other directors and members of the Saengerfest Athletic association will not take up much time.

The most important witness was Mayor Fleischmann, who testified to the conditions under which he granted the permit for the fight and who held that he was justified in so doing, as he gave a permit for a boxing contest, which should come within the laws of Ohio.

Louis P. Ezekiel, who has all the privileges for programs and souvenirs for the event, was an interesting witness, because he stated that he intended to publish an official copy of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry in the souvenir. This led to discussions as to hte admission of a copy of those rules in evidence.

Henry Straus, at whose cigar store tickets are on sale, was kept on the stand most of the afternoon Wednesday. Straus in part told of the great demand for tickets.

According to the evidence of Straus the bout between Jeffries and Ruhlin was to be a boxing contest and not a prizefight, and he felt confident that he was not selling tickets for an illegal performance, but for one that came within the provisions of the laws of Ohio. The examination of witnesses was conducted by Lawrence Maxwell and Judge Peck, but a feature of the afternoon session was an argument between John M. Warrington and Judge Moses Wilson on the competency of the admission of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry in evidence. Warrington held that a newspaper annual, which contained these rules, was recognized as good authority and should be admitted as evidence. The court overruled the objection of Wilson and the pamphlet was admitted as evidence, subject to any changes that the defense might make from authentic sources. As the contracts that have been entered into provide for contests under these rules the attorneys for the injunction considered that they had made a strong point in their efforts to show that the event here on Feb. 15 is to be a prizefight for the championship rather than a boxing contest. The attorneys for the injunction read these rules in open court with great effort and commented on the brutality that was possible under them. They also read with dramatic effect accounts from the newspapers of the fights that Jeffries and Ruhlin had participated in to show what might be expected of them when they meet for a championship contest on Feb. 15.

CALLS TO TWO MINISTERS.

Rev. Dr. Fulton Visits Pittsburg—Hudnut's Intentions to Be Ascertained.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Rev. Dr. William S. Fulton, of Lexington, Ky., arrived in the city and was to lead the prayer meeting in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church last night. He had not made up his mind as to what he will do with regard to the call which this church has extended to him. The several organizations of his church in Kentucky have entered protests against his leaving the field where he has been for about 17 years. The ultimate decison must be made by the presbytery of Transylvania. The Kentucky presbyteries are very loth to part with any of their members, as it is difficult to supply the churches in that state. Dr. Fulton will fill the pulpit of the Point Breeze church next Sunday morning and night.

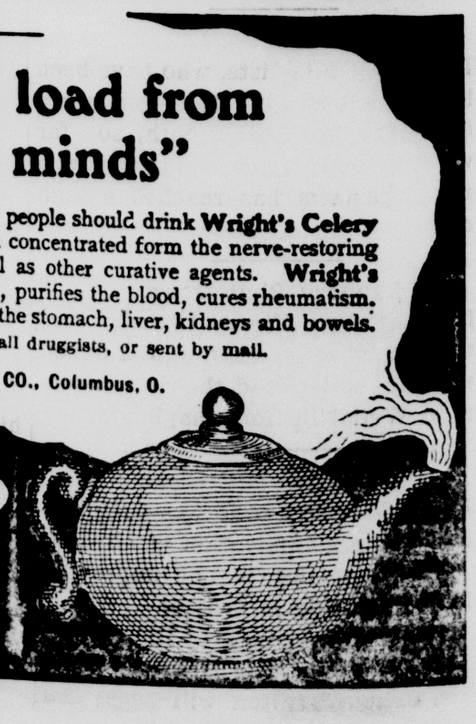

Another congregational meeting of the Bellevue Presbyterian church was called for last night to make a second effort to make out a call for the Rev. William Herbert Hudnut, of Youngstown, as pastor. The meeting about a week ago was postponed to see whether Mr. Hudnut would give the church assurances that he would accept the call if it should be tendered.

"A Bright Little Boy"

Would be sure of a welcome in almost any home. But what a welcome he would have in a home where the hope of children had been extinguished. What a welcome this particular "bright little boy" did have in such a home, may be judged by the closing paragraph of his mother's letter, given below. There is no room for the whole letter, which recounts a story of fifteen years of suffering and a perfect cure by the use of "three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and some of the 'Pellets.'"

In many instances childlessness is the result of conditions which are curable. It has often happened that when "Favorite Prescription" has cured a woman of female weakness and the nervous condition attending it, her return to health is signalized by the birth of her first child. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I cannot tell half that Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. T. A. Ragan, of Norris, Watauga Co., N. C. "It will do all that is claimed for it—prevent miscarriage and render childbirth easy. It has given me a bright little boy, and I would not have had him had it not been for your wonderful medicine. I cannot say too much in praise of it; I think it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God for my life, and Dr. Pierce for my health."

"Pleasant Pellets" clear the complexion.

FEDERATION FORMED.

Organization of Churches and Christian Workers Effected.

WISH TO WORK FOR PROVIDENCE.

Promoterss Plan to Co-Operate For His Cause—Fifteen Ministers and 15 Laymen, With President, Secretary and Treasurer, to Be Chosen.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—The delegates to the conference having for its object a national federation of churches and Christian workers took up the question of a constitution for the new organization. The draft presented by Rev. Charles L. Thompson, of New York, chairman of the committee on organization, did not meet with the approval of a majority of the conferees, and the whole question was referred to a committee with instructions to revise the plan.

There was an interesting discussion of the topic, "State Federations and Their Work." Those participating were Rev. C. S. Cummings, Auburn, Me.; Prof. A. W. Anthony, Lewistown, Mo.; Henry H. Stebbins, D. D., president of the Federations of Churches and Christian Workers of the State of New York, and William C. Webb, D. D., secretary of the Evangelical Alliance, of Pennsylvania.

The constitution as finally adopted gave the organization the title of the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers. Its object was to secure co-operation among churches and Christian workers throughout the United States for the more effective promotion of the interests of the kingdom of God.

Fifteen ministers and 15 laymen were to be chosen by the federation, who, with the president, recording secretary and treasurer, will constitute the executive board.

With the adoption of the constitution the federation was declared formally organized, and a nominating committee was appointed to select candidates for the various offices.

Charles W. Webb, D. D., and Kerr Boyce Tupper, D. D., of this city, and J. W. Higgins, D. D., of New York, were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions of greeting to the national council of Evangelical Free Churches of Great Britain.

Brief addresses were made by Rev. H. B. Roberts, of Hartford, Conn.; W. H. Beach, of the Jersey City federation; Rev. Ward D. Sullivan, D. D., of Oxford, N. Y., and Rev. Dr. Sommerville, Edditown, N. Y.

The following officers were elected: President, J. Cleveland Cady, New York; vice presidents, Governor Benjamin B. Odell, Albany, N. Y.; William E. Dodge, New York; Colonel Jacob L. Greene, Hartford, Conn; E. W. Blatchford, Chicago; Horace Benton, Cleveland; Hon. Charles A. Schieren, Brooklyn; William Hartshorn, Boston; Samuel Young, Pittsbur; Captain Alfred T. Mahan, Washington, D. C.; John H. Converse, Philadelphia; Judge Grosscup, Chicago; recording secretary, William A. Rice, D. D., Newark N. J.

DISPOSED OF TWO BILLS.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Two important measures were disposed of by the senate Wednesday, the military academy appropriation bill and the war revenue reduction measure. The only change made in the former was the strengthening of the provision against hazing at West Point.

During part of the afternoon session Wednesday the war revenue reduction bill was before the senate. A determined but unsuccessful effort was made to reduce the tax on bank checks and to provide that telegraph and express companies should bear the burden of the tax on messages and packages sent. The finance committee's amendment levying a tax on transactions in so-called "bucket shops," modifying the tax upon cigars and cigarettes, and providing for a rebate on unbroken packages of tobacco, in addition to several others of a minor character, were adopted.

An amendment substituting an income tax for the war revenue measure offered by Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, was rejected by a party vote, 21 to 38.

Beginning about 8 o'clock last evening the first of a promised series of night sessions was held to dicuss the shipping bill. The entire session was devoted to a continuous round of intellectual pyrotechnics. Practically every question that has been or is likely soon to be before the senate was discussed, but very little time was devoted to the pending measure. Notable speeches were made by Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, and Mr. Aldrich, of Rhode Island. The Arkansas senator was passionate in his denunciation of the methods of the majority to force the shipping bill to an issue and Mr. Aldrich's response was quite as keen and vigorous in their defense. Others also spoke more or less.

Postoffice Bill Debated.

Washington, Feb. 7.—There was debate on the postoffice appropriation bill Wednesday in the house.

RIGHT OF WAY SECURED.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 7.—Right of way has been obtained by the Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia Telephone company into Pittsburg. This company has lines reaching from New York to this town, and as far as Scottdale. The lines will be pushed into Pittsburg at once.

It was announced here by local officials that $4,500 would be spent in Connellsville, $3,500 in Uniontown, and similar amounts in nearby towns. The improvement will be popular in this section, as the Bell Telephone company this month raised its rates.

Knights of Columbus Convention.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 7.—The state convention of the Knights of Columbus opened here. The election of officers resulted: State deputy supreme grand knight, James A. Flaherty, Philadelphia; state secretary, Joseph McDevit, Philadelphia; treasurer, R. J. Burke, Scranton; state warden, John A. Meighan, Allegheny; state lecturer, A. S. McSwigan, Pittsburg; state chaplain, Rev. T. W. Cavanaugh, Clearfield; state physician, Dr. M. F. Craven, Pittsburg. It was decided to meet in Scranton next year. The order has 8,000 members in the state. A new council will be instituted in Allegheny, Feb. 17.

EVENTS IN BRIEF.

Fourteen freight cars were wrecked at McMechen, W. Va., on the Baltimore and Ohio.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has asked for bids for a new passenger station at Wheeling.

The $100,000 breach of promise suit brought in Westmoreland county, Pa., by Mary Custis against Frank H. Denny has been settled.

Four men have been arrested and fined at Parkersburg, W. Va., for shaving, tormenting and tarring Andrew Jarvis, a drunken man.

Eight persons have laid claim to the $750 reward for the arrest of Evy and Moore, bank robbers, now in the Maryland penitentiary, and the court will be asked to decide who is entitled to it.

Mr. Bertha Fox, aged 26, of Fox Chase, near Philadelphia, and her 4-year-old son are in a critical condition from carbolic acid poison, and a 2-year-old child is dead from the same cause. They were found unconscious and the husband drunk.

Fire at Wellston, O., gutted the postoffice building and destroyed a large quantity of mail matter. The fire also damaged the First National bank, J. J. Vandervort's wall paper and book store and the Knights of Pythias hall.

At Warren, O., the following prisoners were sentenced to the penitentiary: Chris Peters, Hubbard, burglary, five years; John Holtz, Sharon, Pa., obtaining money on false pretenses, one year; Walter Cooper, Paterson, N. J., Henry Bean, New York, larceny, one year each.

Would be sure of a welcome in almost any home. But what a welcome he would have in a home where the hope of children had been extinguished. What a welcome this particular "bright little boy" did have in such a home, may be judged by the closing paragraph of his mother's letter, given below. There is no room for the whole letter, which recounts a story of fifteen years of suffering and a perfect cure by the use of three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and some of the 'Pellets.'"

In many instances childlessness is the result of conditions which are curable. It has often happened that when "Favorite Prescription" has cured a woman of female weakness and the nervous condition attending it, her return to health is signalized by the birth of her first child. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I cannot tell half that Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. T. A. Ragan, of Norris, Watauga Co., N. C. "It will do all that is claimed for it—prevent miscarriage and render childbirth easy. It has given me a bright little boy, and I would not have had him had it not been for your wonderful medicine. I cannot say too much in praise of it; I think it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God for my life, and Dr. Pierce for my health."

"Pleasant Pellets" clear the complexion.

FEDERATION FORMED.

Organization of Churches and Christian Workers Effected.

WISH TO WORK FOR PROVIDENCE.

Promoterss Plan to Co-Operate For His Cause—Fifteen Ministers and 15 Laymen, With President, Secretary and Treasurer, to Be Chosen.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—The delegates to the conference having for its object a national federation of churches and Christian workers took up the question of a constitution for the new organization. The draft presented by Rev. Charles L. Thompson, of New York, chairman of the committee on organization, did not meet with the approval of a majority of the conferees, and the whole question was referred to a committee with instructions to revise the plan.

There was an interesting discussion of the topic, "State Federations and Their Work." Those participating were Rev. C. S. Cummings, Auburn, Me.; Prof. A. W. Anthony, Lewistown, Mo.; Henry H. Stebbins, D. D., president of the Federations of Churches and Christian Workers of the State of New York, and William C. Webb, D. D., secretary of the Evangelical Alliance, of Pennsylvania.

The constitution as finally adopted gave the organization the title of the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers. Its object was to secure co-operation among churches and Christian workers throughout the United States for the more effective promotion of the interests of the kingdom of God.

Fifteen ministers and 15 laymen were to be chosen by the federation, who, with the president, recording secretary and treasurer, will constitute the executive board.

With the adoption of the constitution the federation was declared formally organized, and a nominating committee was appointed to select candidates for the various offices.

Charles W. Webb, D. D., and Kerr Boyce Tupper, D. D., of this city, and J. W. Higgins, D. D., of New York, were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions of greeting to the national council of Evangelical Free Churches of Great Britain.

Brief addresses were made by Rev. H. B. Roberts, of Hartford, Conn.; W. H. Beach, of the Jersey City federation; Rev. Ward D. Sullivan, D. D., of Oxford, N. Y., and Rev. Dr. Sommerville, Edditown, N. Y.

The following officers were elected: President, J. Cleveland Cady, New York; vice presidents, Governor Benjamin B. Odell, Albany, N. Y.; William E. Dodge, New York; Colonel Jacob L. Greene, Hartford, Conn; E. W. Blatchford, Chicago; Horace Benton, Cleveland; Hon. Charles A. Schieren, Brooklyn; William Hartshorn, Boston; Samuel Young, Pittsbur; Captain Alfred T. Mahan, Washington, D. C.; John H. Converse, Philadelphia; Judge Grosscup, Chicago; recording secretary, William A. Rice, D. D., Newark, N. J.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Two important measures were disposed of by the senate Wednesday, the military academy appropriation bill and the war revenue reduction measure. The only change made in the former was the strengthening of the provision against hazing at West Point.

During part of the afternoon session Wednesday the war revenue reduction bill was before the senate. A determined but unsuccessful effort was made to reduce the tax on bank checks and to provide that telegraph and express companies should bear the burden of the tax on messages and packages sent. The finance committee's amendment levying a tax on transactions in so-called "bucket shops," modifying the tax upon cigars and cigarettes, and providing for a rebate on unbroken packages of tobacco, in addition to several others of a minor character, were adopted.

An amendment substituting an income tax for the war revenue measure offered by Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, was rejected by a party vote, 21 to 38.

Beginning about 8 o'clock last evening the first of a promised series of night sessions was held to dicuss the shipping bill. The entire session was devoted to a continuous round of intellectual pyrotechnics. Practically every question that has been or is likely soon to be before the senate was discussed, but very little time was devoted to the pending measure. Notable speeches were made by Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, and Mr. Aldrich, of Rhode Island. The Arkansas senator was passionate in his denunciation of the methods of the majority to force the shipping bill to an issue and Mr. Aldrich's response was quite as keen and vigorous in their defense. Others also spoke more or less.

Postoffice Bill Debated.

Washington, Feb. 7.—There was debate on the postoffice appropriation bill Wednesday in the house.

RIGHT OF WAY SECURED.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 7.—Right of way has been obtained by the Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia Telephone company into Pittsburg. This company has lines reaching from New York to this town, and as far as Scottdale. The lines will be pushed into Pittsburg at once.

It was announced here by local officials that $4,500 would be spent in Connellsville, $3,500 in Uniontown, and similar amounts in nearby towns. The improvement will be popular in this section, as the Bell Telephone company this month raised its rates.

Knights of Columbus Convention.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 7.—The state convention of the Knights of Columbus opened here. The election of officers resulted: State deputy supreme grand knight, James A. Flaherty, Philadelphia; state secretary, Joseph McDevit, Philadelphia; treasurer, R. J. Burke, Scranton; state warden, John A. Meighan, Allegheny; state lecturer, A. S. McSwigan, Pittsburg; state chaplain, Rev. T. W. Cavanaugh, Clearfield; state physician, Dr. M. F. Craven, Pittsburg. It was decided to meet in Scranton next year. The order has 8,000 members in the state. A new council will be instituted in Allegheny, Feb. 17.

EVENTS IN BRIEF.

Eight persons have laid claim to the $750 reward for the arrest of Evy and Moore, bank robbers, now in the Maryland penitentiary, and the court will be asked to decide who is entitled to it.

Mr. Bertha Fox, aged 26, of Fox Chase, near Philadelphia, and her 4-year-old son are in a critical condition from carbolic acid poison, and a 2-year-old child is dead from the same cause. They were found unconscious and the husband drunk.

Fire at Wellston, O., gutted the postoffice building and destroyed a large quantity of mail matter. The fire also damaged the First National bank, J. J. Vandervort's wall paper and book store and the Knights of Pythias hall.

At Warren, O., the following prisoners were sentenced to the penitentiary: Chris Peters, Hubbard, burglary, five years; John Holtz, Sharon, Pa., obtaining money on false pretenses, one year; Walter Cooper, Paterson, N. J., Henry Bean, New York, larceny, one year each.

It seems that the local probate court has been issuing illegal licenses to hundreds of Pennsylvania couples. The facts came out again during a trial in court for bigamy. The man was arrested and the lawyers maintain, backed by the statute, that the marriage was illegal for the reason that the license was issued to parties living in Pennsylvania. A lot of folks over there who were licensed here may soon make hotfeet to have their marriages re-performed. At present, according to local lawyers, they are living together unlawfully, though, perhaps, pleasantly.

Cigarettes Falling Off.

According to the United States Tobacco Journal, the production of cigars in this country for the year 1900 shows a large increase, while the cigarette production has fallen off by many millions. Hhe death rate among consumers of the villainous "coffin nails" has reduced the consumption. Soon cigarette smokers will be consigned to the grave or hospitals for the insane, when the manufacture will cease entirely.

BOOMVILLE HOMELETS.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

Boomville ought to have a fire department. At the present time the only conveniences for fighting the lurid destroyer are a stepladder and an old bucket without a handle. Let us not wake up when it is too late.

We received a call a day or two since from Mr. Sam Norton, who lost a dollar on Main street a few weeks ago and has not recovered it up to date. He may never recover it, but he has the consolation of knowing that the dishonest finder will not go to heaven along with the rest of us.

It now transpires that Mr. John Griscomb's year-old baby did not swallow a pair of scissors, as stated in our last issue. What it got away with was half a dozen tacks and a brass thimble, but the doctor anticipates no malign results. Boomville cherubs have healthy appetites.

first into an empty barrel in front of Strong's grocery. The thruster was Abner Green, who had been drinking and was in a jokeful mood. We trust it may not happen again. The position was undignified.

We are sorry to say that we missed the item last week about a cow breaking through the Looking Glass river bridge and breaking her leg, but we are in time to announce that it was her left hind leg and that she is owned by Farmer Savage. He thinks he can amputate the leg and save her life.

Among those who remembered the struggling but undaunted editor last week was Mrs. Jason Williams. She brought us in a pound of butter and a basket of potatoes, and could she have seen the tears in our wife's eyes as we carried the luxuries home she would have felt amply rewarded. We love to be an editor, and we love our subscribers.

Cruel Christophe.

There seems to have been nothing to appeal to in the "Emperor" Christophe's nature. Bravery, humility, all alike failed to touch him He had no bowels of mercy He was one day on the battlements of Haiti with a youth, who, perhaps presuming on past favors, in some manner displeased him. The drop from these sheer walls is 2,000 feet to the plain below. "You are, of course, about to die," said Christophe, "but I will be kind to you. You shall have a choice of deaths. Either you throw yourself over here or the soldiers shall shoot you."

The young man chose to fling himself into space. But by a miracle he fell among some trees or bushes on the cliff side and so escaped with a broken arm. He gathered himself up somehow and presented himself again before the emperor. "Your bidding has been done, sire," he said. It seems that the local probate court has been issuing illegal licenses to hundreds of Pennsylvania couples. The facts came out again during a trial in court for bigamy. The man was arrested and the lawyers maintain, backed by the statute, that the marriage was illegal for the reason that the license was issued to parties living in Pennsylvania. A lot of folks over there who were licensed here may soon make hotfeet to have their marriages re-performed. At present, according to local lawyers, they are living together unlawfully, though, perhaps, pleasantly.

Cigarettes Falling Off.

According to the United States Tobacco Journal, the production of cigars in this country for the year 1900 shows a large increase, while the cigarette production has fallen off by many millions. Hhe death rate among consumers of the villainous "coffin nails" has reduced the consumption. Soon cigarette smokers will be consigned to the grave or hospitals for the insane, when the manufacture will cease entirely.

BOOMVILLE HOMELETS.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

Boomville ought to have a fire department. At the present time the only conveniences for fighting the lurid destroyer are a stepladder and an old bucket without a handle. Let us not wake up when it is too late.

We received a call a day or two since from Mr. Sam Norton, who lost a dollar on Main street a few weeks ago and has not recovered it up to date. He may never recover it, but he has the consolation of knowing that the dishonest finder will not go to heaven along with the rest of us.

It now transpires that Mr. John Griscomb's year-old baby did not swallow a pair of scissors, as stated in our last issue. What it got away with was half a dozen tacks and a brass thimble, but the doctor anticipates no malign results. Boomville cherubs have healthy appetites.

first into an empty barrel in front of Strong's grocery. The thruster was Abner Green, who had been drinking and was in a jokeful mood. We trust it may not happen again. The position was undignified.

We are sorry to say that we missed the item last week about a cow breaking through the Looking Glass river bridge and breaking her leg, but we are in time to announce that it was her left hind leg and that she is owned by Farmer Savage. He thinks he can amputate the leg and save her life.

Among those who remembered the struggling but undaunted editor last week was Mrs. Jason Williams. She brought us in a pound of butter and a basket of potatoes, and could she have seen the tears in our wife's eyes as we carried the luxuries home she would have felt amply rewarded. We love to be an editor, and we love our subscribers.

Cruel Christophe.

There seems to have been nothing to appeal to in the "Emperor" Christophe's nature. Bravery, humility, all alike failed to touch him He had no bowels of mercy He was one day on the battlements of Haiti with a youth, who, perhaps presuming on past favors, in some manner displeased him. The drop from these sheer walls is 2,000 feet to the plain below. "You are, of course, about to die," said Christophe, "but I will be kind to you. You shall have a choice of deaths. Either you throw yourself over here or the soldiers shall shoot you."

The young man chose to fling himself into space. But by a miracle he fell among some trees or bushes on the cliff side and so escaped with a broken arm. SMALL SUM OF $75 AND COSTS

Edward Hicklin, of Lisbon, pleaded guilty to furnishing liquor in each of two indictments and was fined $25 and costs in each. A third case was nollied.

Claud Hasbrouch, proprietor of the Cowan House, had six indictments returned against him for selling to Emmet Long, an habitual. He pleaded guilty to three and was given $20 and costs on each.

Joseph Vaughn, bartender for Pierce Burbick, was arraigned on three indictments charging him with selling liquor unlawfully. He was fined $25 and costs in each case and one case was nollied.

C. C. Davids, of Wellsville, was here last term charged with selling to minors, and Judge Hole gave him $40 and costs in one case.

Samuel Brubaker, of Wellsville, was indicted for selling to a minor. He pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs and given 15 days in jail.

John Adams, a farmer of West township, who resides on the McKinley farm, testified that he kept a barrel of whisky on his farm, but had sold a quantity of it a number of times to neighbors. He was fined $75 and costs and one day in the county jail.

Edward McCoy, of Lisbon, was indicted with having furnished liquor to Frank Adams, Jr., and was fined $15 and costs.

Samuel King, of Lisbon, furnished liquor to Rollin Jones, a minor and he was fined $30 and costs.

George Taylor came here a short time ago from Pennsylvania and was unacquainted with the habits of Winfield Van Fossan, an alleged habitual. One case of furnishing for him was nollied.

Michael Moister, of Lisbon, pleaded guilty to furnishing liquor to Denver Dewell, 12-year-old boy. He was fined $20 and costs and committed to the workhouse until paid.

George Gibbins, a Wellsville saloonist, was arraigned on a charge of furnishing to Frank Adams, a Lisbon minor, and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to the workhouse.

The will of William Arnold, of Unity township, was filed and the application for probate will be heard on February 15. Rosetta Arnold will act as executor.

The will in the estate of Jane McKee, of Perry township, was admitted to probate.

ACTION WILL BE STARTED AGAINST CONSTABLE MILLER

The friends of Smith have been very active since that time, and a number of attempts have been made to compromise the case out of court. Last Saturday this was effected, and although tne consideration is not given out, it is understood it was a substantial one.

Now that all matters directly bearing on the case have been disposed of, it is said Smith's friends are thinking seriously of proceeding against Constable Miller on the ground that he made the arrest in a saloon, which, they claim, is illegal.

Miller was seen today and said that he was not alarmed in the least, and would be in position, in case they entered proceedings, to clearly show where he stood in the matter.

ABE RAMBO

Deputy Sheriff Chris A. Bick lately received a letter from Abe Rambo, of this county, who was sent to the penitentiary one year ago for five years on a charge of highway robbery. Rambo wanted the deputy sheriff to work for his parole. Deputy Bick did not have time to respond to the yetter and received a letter from Warden Darby inquiring about the matter.

CHIEF THOMPSON

Business has been slow in police circles since yesterday morning, and not an arrest was made last night.

The money reported to have been stolen from Fred Hosack, $56 in round numbers, has not been recovered, and although Chief Thompson has had the matter in hand for several days, no trace of the thief or thieves has been found.

H. J. WINDRAM

H. J. Windham, the Sixth street grocer, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon.

The gentleman was engaged in changing the location of a barrel of crackers when the little finger of his right hand in some manner became entangled in the staves. The member was mashed so badly that it may be that amputation will be necessary.

OIL INSPECTOR LEWIS IS HERE

HIS PRINCIPAL MISSION HERE

STREET LAMPS ARE ALL RIGHT

J. K. Lewis, of Youngstown, deputy state oil inspector, is in the city today for the purpose of seeing if the oil dealers are complying with the law in regard to oil, but more especially to notify the dealers in regard to the use of gasoline for illuminating purposes, as he understands gasoline lamps have been sold in this city.

The law on the subject says:

Section 400. No person may adulterate with any substance whatever, for the purpose of sale, or illuminating purposes, any oil obtained from petroleum, or obtained from coal, in such manner as to render it dangerous to use; nor shall any person knowingly sell, or offer for sale, any oil obtained from petroleum, or from coal, or from the products of either, for illuminating purposes within this state, which by reason of being adulterated, or for any reason whatever, will flash at a temperature less than one hundred and twenty degrees of Farenheit's thermometer, and the test herein prescribed; but the oils not bearing the test herein prescribed, may be used in street lamps for lighting streets or public wharves, ways or alleys, and also the gas or vapor from such oils may be used for illuminating purposes, when the oils from which said gas or vapor is generated, are contained in reservoirs underground, outside the buildings illuminated or lighted by the gas or vapor, and a person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by imprisonment in any county jail not more than one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred ($500) dollars, or by such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court.

As gasoline does not come up to the required test it will be readily seen by the foregoing section that it cannot be used for illuminating purposes except for street lights, or when stored in underground reservoirs, outside the building to be lighted.

When the fact became known that the inspectors of oil would make a fight against the gasoline lamps there was some speculation as to whether it would effect this city and compel the discontinuance of the 40 lights purchased a short time ago by council.

The lights come within the law and can still be used to illuminate the suburbs.

Mr. Lewis will spend a few days in the city.

This is our Badge of Honor.

CUSICK DEPARTED

WHEN RELEASED ON HIS OWN RECOGNIZANCE.

He finally went to a superintendent in one of the local potteries, in company with the constable, with the request that he go on his bond. After hearing the circumstances surrounding the case the gentleman refused, and they returned to the squire's office, where another conflab took place. The squire reasoned that Mrs. Cusick would be just as well satisfied if he went away and never showed up again, as though the prosecution was proceeded with, and so permitted William to go on his own recognizance until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Now this was just what William wanted, and it cannot be said Mrs. Cusick was averse to the plan. He went home, put on an extra pair of trousers and is probably now in Kentucky, or some other summer climate.

LISBON FIRE.

SEVERAL BUSINESS BLOCKS BURNED LAST NIGHT.

Two Saloons And a Bowling Alley Were Gutted by the Flames.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Lisbon was visited by a destructive fire last night, which completely destroyed four business blocks on West Walnut street.

The fire originated in the kitchen of the Landendorf restaurant and gained such headway before Mr. Landendorf, who was sleeping in the building, awakened that he was compelled to drop from a second-story window to escape.

The other buildings burned were B. F. McGovern's saloon, Bradbury's bowling alley and the Commercial House saloon.

Cosgrove Was Acquitted.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Patrick Cosgrove, who is employed at the tin mill, was tried to a jury on a charge of furnishing liquor to a minor. They returned a verdict of not guilty.

THE ANIMAL DIDN'T STAND

THERE WAS A GENERAL SMASH

E. A. Eccles and C. Murray, two Buffalo men who have been in this city for some time selling a cheap musical instrument, will in all probability be shy the profits on all the sales made in this community.

Yesterday morning Murray hired a horse and buggy from Liveryman John Rinehart for the purpose of peddling in the vicinity of Smith's Ferry. He left the horse standing in the road some time during the afternoon, and was engaged in explaining the good qualities of his wares to the inmates of the house, when the animal became tired of waiting, and as there was nothing to prevent, wandered onto the railroad track.

Trains on the Cleveland & Pittsburg are not numerous, but there happened to be one due just about this time. It was an east bound freight, and hit the outfit when it was directly upon the crossing. The buggy was smashed to splinters, the harness completely torn to pieces and the horse badly injured.

The horse was not hit fairly or it would undoubtedly have been killed outright. As it was, a very bad cut was inflicted on the animal's right hip which is of a character that may result in its death, as it is very long and quite deep.

Although the accident occurred during the afternoon it was 11 o'clock before the horse could be brought to this city. Mr. Rinehart valued the animal at $150, and even if it recovers it will not be of much value as a livery horse.

The liveryman's loss in the buggy and harness will be about $50, and as Murray states he is not responsible for a cent, it is possible the amount will not be made good. However, Murray says he will do the best he can to settle for the damage done.

REV. SPRENG

The revival service held last evening at the First M. E. church was well attended and Rev. Spreng, of Wellsville, delivered a short address, at the close of which nine persons went forward to the altar.

TRADES' COUNCIL MET LAST NIGHT

TO HELP DEFEAT GROUT BILL

A committee composed of C. A. Ferguson and J. H. Dawson, from the retail grocers' association, were then permitted to make a statement with reference to their opposition to the Grout bill, which proposes to increase the tax on oleomargarine and other artificial butter products, reporting that their association had passed resolutions against the measure and asking Trades Council to cooperate with them in the matter. A committee consisting of C. W. Brownfield, C. J. McHugh and Henry Schreiber were appointed to draft a suitable resolution which will touch upon all points necessary to convey the disapproval of the local council to the legislators at Washington respecting the proposed law.

Miss Sadie Hay, of the warehouse women's union, who has for several terms occupied the berth of financial secretary in a most efficient and satisfactory manner, tendered her resignation at the meeting last evening, and upon its being accepted C. J. McHugh, of Typographical Union No. 318, was chosen to fill the unexpired term.

A communication from the Pittsburg Typographical Union was read and contained the information that the Pittsburg Dispatch was the only paper in that city which was strictly union in every department.

The various delegates were instructed to convey this information to their several organizations, and the meeting adjourned.

CHECKERS.

Arrangements are being made to have James Johnson, of Toronto, and several other out-of-town players, come here during Mr. Leonard's stay, and there promises to be some interesting contests within the next few days.

This ever popular game has a large number of supporters in this city, and not a few very good players. In fact the ability of several local players has brought them to the notice of the best cracks in the country.

The indications are that the bridges at Beaver, Steubenville and Parkersburg will all have to be remodeled and reconstructed so as to comply with the United States bridge law, and report says that an effort will be made to have the national government stand part of the expense. While it is admitted that bridges are a necessity, there appears to be a determination to make these corporations comply with the bridge laws, the object of which is to protect navigation.

MISS CORA M'LANE

Deceased Came from Toronto And While Here Was Taken Ill With Typhoid Fever.

Miss Cora McLane died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baxter, Second street, at about 5:30, the cause of death being typhoid fever.

Deceased was 16 years of age, and besides her parents leaves a number of brothers and sisters to mourn her death, Mrs. Baxter being a sister. She had been in this city but a short time, having come from her home in Toronto to visit her sister.

Funeral services will be held at the Baxter home this evening and the remains will be taken to the home of her parents in Toronto tonight.

The funeral will take place from the Methodist Episcopal church, Toronto, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be made in the cemetery at that place.

OLD SHOES AND RICE.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver Were Given a Grand Sendoff at the Train Yesterday.

Charles Weaver and Miss Nellie Allison were married yesterday afternoon and left on the 4 o'clock train for New York. They will certainly enjoy a most happy honeymoon if there is any truth in the ancient Chinese legend that rice and old shoes insure the happiness of a newly married couple. A number of friends were present at the depot and when the happy couple left their carriage they were received with a bounteous shower of rice and old shoes, which their friends continued to scatter in reckless profusion until the train left the depot. About 20 of the ladies were supplied with tin horns and noise was as plentiful as rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver are very popular among the young people here, and will be welcomed with a delightful reception on their return to this city, where they will make their future home.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Columbiana Man Claims His Wife Has Been Wilfully Absent from Him.

Lisbon, Feb. 7.—(Special.)—Isaac Harold, of Columbiana, wants a divorce from Martha Harrold, to whom he was married on October 10, 1899 in Clarkson. The husband alleges wilful absence.

Auditor May Remit.

Attorney General Sheets rendered an opinion Saturday to the effect that the auditor of a county may remit the difference between the taxes on forfeited land under the last decennial appraisement and that of 1890, under section 2907a. This does not apply to street assessments. He also held that county commissioners are not entitled to the payment by the county of hotel and livery bills when on official business within their own counties.

To Test the Water.

In a letter to the Mingo board of health, Secretary C. O. Probst, of the state board, says: "The state board will doubtless this year take up an examination of all the public water supplies obtained from the Ohio river. Such an examination means monthly analysis of samples for eight or ten months to allow for varying conditions of the river. This would, of course, include East Liverpool.

THAT WAS DIFFERENT.

Papa Said there Was No Similarity In the Two Cases.

"Papa," asked the little boy, "do you remember the first money you ever earned?"

"Yes," said papa. "It was a nice, new, shiny 5 cent piece that old Mr. Gregg, the grocer, gave me for doing about a quarter's worth of work in carrying a load of potatoes into his cellar. I worked all Saturday afternoon to earn that nickel, and when he paid me I ran three blocks home, tired as I was, to show it."

"And did you put it in your little bank?" asked the little boy.

"No; I got father's permission to spend it just as I pleased. However, I kept it for three or four days, just to have the satisfaction of having money of my owned, earned by my own exertions. And if I could have bought all the things I thought of buying with that nickel I would have had about $10 worth of books, toys, marbles and what not. Finally I made up my mind. What do you think I bought?"

"I am sure I can't guess," said the little boy. "What did you buy, papa?"

"Why, papa! And you said grandma always had custard pie at home and let you have a slice of it as soon as you got home from school!"

"Yes, I used to get a slice, but not a whole pie, and she never let me eat it the way I wanted to. So I went to the bakery and bought my pie and borrowed a spoon from the baker and ate all the custard and left the crust. I never had anything taste so good in all my life."

"You never allow me to eat custard pie that way, papa," said the little boy.

"Oh, that's different!" said papa.—Indianapolis Press.

A Pittsburg man tells of a visit he made at a thrifty home in a nearby town. The call was quite a pleasant one and during the evening "Abey," the hopeful son of the family, was sent to the cellar for refreshments for the guests. He could be heard groping his way through the dark, and then came the noise of something falling and the crash of glass. "Abey's" mother was plainly uneasy, but she assumed the unnatural composure which her society duties demanded. Soon "Abey" came up with an armful of bottles.

"What was that noise we heard, 'Abey'?" asked the mother.

The Lost Repeater.

When monsieur the first monsieur at the court of Louis XIV—discovered at his levee that his watch had been stolen, presumably by one of his valets, he finished dressing hastily, and, addressing them all, said: "Gentlemen, the watch strikes. Let us separate as quickly as we can." What a tact and finish were here!

The spirit of monsieur was admirably caught by the French gentleman of the time, who, attacked by robbers at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, simply observed, "Sirs, you have opened very early today."—Cornhill

Congregational Meeting of a Washington, Pa., Church to Be Held This Afternoon.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Rev. William E. Slemmons, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Mercer, who may be called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, of Washington, Pa., at a congregational meeting to be held this afternoon, is an old newspaper man. He served for some time as a reporter on the Chicago dailies. Mr. Slemmons was born in Cadiz, O., Dec. 1, 1855. He studied theology at Princeton and the Western Theological seminaries. He was ordained to the ministry by the presbytery of Erie in 1877 and at once installed as pastor in Mercer, where he has been ever since. His church in that town has grown to a membership of 250. The church in Washington has a membership of 450 and the pulpit has been vacant ever since the death of the Rev. Dr. William James I. Brownson, who was pastor of the church for over 50 years. It is regarded as the strongest church in the Washington presbytery.

The Pains of Kidney Disease

Pain is nature's signal whereby she warns man of approaching danger. Few diseases are so dreadfully fatal as disorders of the kidneys and few are accompanied by more severe pains and discomforts.

One of the most common symptoms of kidney disease is the smarting, scalding sensation when passing water which is likely to come very frequently and at inconvenient times. Then there is the dull, heavy aching in the small of the back and down the limbs.

When these pains are accompanied by deposits in the urine after it has stood for twenty-four hours you may be sure that you are a victim of kidney disease and should not lose a single day in securing the world's greatest kidney cure—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Take one pill at a dose, and in a surprisingly short time you will be far on the road to recovery, for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and promptly on the kidneys, and are certain to prove of great benefit to any one suffering from irregularities of those organs.

Don't imagine that you are experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are almost as well known as his great Recipe Book, have made some of the most surprising cures of kidney disease on record and have come to be considered the only absolute cure for kidney disease.

Mr. J. Curtiss, a well known R. R. engineer, living at 191 Murry street, Binghamton, N. Y., writes:

"Soon after going on the road I began to be troubled by severe pains in my back accompanied by such terrible weakness that I was obliged to stop work for days at a time.

"Hearing of the good results obtained by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I gave them a trial. They helped me almost immediately, and now I can truthfully say that I am as well as any man, thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

MOTHERS OF FAMOUS SONS.

By Mary Lowe Dickinson.

Henry Ward Beecher's Mother.

Henry Ward Beecher says of his mother: "I have only such a remembrance of her as you have of the clouds of ten years ago, yet no devout Catholic ever saw so much in the Virgin Mary as I have seen in my mother, who has been a presence to me ever since I can remember. Do you know why so often I speak what must seem to some of you rhapsody of woman? It is because I had a mother, and if I were to live a thousand years I could not express what seems to me to be the least that I owe her. From her I received my love of the beautiful, my poetic temperament, from her also I received simplicity and childlike faith in God."

She studied literature and history while she spun flax, tying her books to the distaff. No wonder then that her great son was an omniverous reader. She wrote and spoke the French language fluently, painted on ivory, sang and played on the guitar, and was an expert with her needle. So meager was the salary for the increasing household, only $400 a year, that she started a select school in which she taught French, drawing, painting and embroidery, beside the higher English branches. With all this work she found time to make herself the idol of her children.

Of Wendell Phillips, it is said that his love for his mother was a passion. "Her earliest gift to him," says Carlos Marty, "was a Bible. Her one counsel for him was, 'be good, do good.'" That Bible was his prized treasure for seventy years, and, says Mrs. Boulton, "Years after, when he stood up like a great oak in the forest, beat upon by wind and storm, he never forgot to keep his trust where his mother first taught him to place it. From her knowledge and common sense in political and mercantile affairs, he judged that other women must be able to take part in the world's work and therefore through life he asked for them an equal place in home and state."

The mother of the distinguished scientist, says a recent biography, was a woman of sweet and strong individuality, equipped with a solid, if unpretentious education, and endowed with rare abilities as a teacher. She was eminently qualified to deal with the plastic mind of her son, and it was to her judicious efforts, rather than to those of his father, that Edison owed that early impetus which gave him such admirable scope and direction to his dawning powers. Under her guidance, at the age of 12, a period when most boys are inflaming their imagination and perverting their moral sense with trashy and sensational fiction, Edison, partly from inclination, partly from over-consciousness, was wading through such ponderous tomes as Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy, Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Hume's History of England and History of the Reformation. We are justified in the reference that through such books as these, no boy, however remarkable, waded without the encouragement and companionship of the woman who could bestow not only the instructor's gift, but the mother's sympathy and love.

It was Samuel Johnson's mother to whom he said in his last letter: "You have been the best mother, and, I believe, the best woman in the world. I thank you for your indulgence to me, and beg forgiveness of all that I have done ill, and of all that I have omitted to do well." It was to defray her funeral expenses that in the evenings of one week he wrote Rasselas, for which he received five hundred dollars.

Bishop Hall speaks of his mother's life as saint-like. Never any lips so preached piety, never any soul that more accurately practiced it. He gave her credit for much of the character and influence that made him a power in the church.

"A Model for Mothers."

It was Garibaldi who says of his mother, a woman of humble station: "She was a model for mothers. Her tender affection for me has, perhaps, been excessive; but I do not owe to her love, to her angel-like character, the little good that belongs to mine? Often, amidst the most arduous scenes of my tumultous life, when I have passed unharmed through the breakers of the ocean or the hailstorms of battle, she has seemed present with me. I have, in fancy, seen her on her knees before the Most High—my dear mother!—imploring for the life of her son, and I have believed in the efficacy of her prayers." "Give me the mothers of the nation to educate, and you may do what you like with the boys," was one of his favorite maxims.

In all the touching examples of the influence of motherhood, there is no story more tender than that of the devotion and the prayers that were rewarded finally by the conversion of St. Augustine. The heart-communion of son and mother was indeed "a fellowship of kindred minds."

The Mother of Napoleon.

The mother of Napoleon Bonaparte was the mother also of 12 other children, eight of whom were living when she was left a widow, at the age of 35. Napoleon said of her: "She managed everything, provided for everything with a prudence which could neither have been expected from her sex nor from her age. She watched over us with a solicitude unexampled. Every low sentiment, every ungenerous affection was discouraged and discarded. She suffered nothing but that which was grand and elevated to take root in our youthful understandings. She abhorred falsehood, and would not tolerate the slightest act of disobedience. None of our faults were overlooked. Losses, privations, fatigue, had no effect upon her. She endured all, braved all. She had the energy of a man, combined with the gentleness and delicacy of a woman."

Such was Napoleon's love for her that he confessed to his friend, when in exile at St. Helena, that in all his vicissitudes, once only had he been tempted to suicide, from which he was saved by a loan of a sum of money from a friend, which sum he sent at once to relieve the distress of his mother.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

East Liverpool people endorse our claim.

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employ at Sebring's pottery, who lives at 234 Second street, says: "I had been taking medicine for my kidneys right along and if I had found a cure I would have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with a quick twinge now and then while stooping or lifting, that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, and the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalding. Work seemed to be a drag. I had no energy and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint."

BIG VOLUME OF SALES.

New York, Feb. 7.—The trading in stocks and bonds Wednesday showed extraordinary volume and variety, the aggregate sales of all stocks reaching 1,964,200 shares, compared with the record of over 2,100,000 shares, which only exceeds them. The day's business in bonds was also very large, but it did not reach the level attained at various times in the bull market of the spring of 1899.

The opening bulge was most pronounced in the steel stocks under the influence of the growing belief in the plan to consolidate great steel combinations. The current belief in its accomplishment really underlay the whole speculative movement of the day, although there were other considerations which supplemented it. The most conspicuous movements in the steel stocks and the largest transactions were in Federal Steel and Steel and Wire. Federal Steel rose 3⅜ and the preferred 4¼. Steel and Wire rose 3 and the preferred 2. National Tube was up 3⅝ and Republic Steel preferred 4¼. There were considerable reactions in this group, as well as in the whole group, after the opening bulge. The selling to take profits showed signs of urgency at many points in the railroad list and some of the leading stocks got from 1 to 2 points under Tuesday night. Those which have recently advanced most strongly were weakest on the decline. Pennsylvania, the coalers, the grangers, the southwesterns (including Atchison and Southern Pacific) and Louisville were all conspicuously heavy. Some of them remained comparatively heavy until the close, although the late volent recovery in the Readings and St. Paul effected the members of their respective groups. The late movement carried Reading first preferred 3⅛ over Tuesday night and Erie first preferred 2. Union Pacific yielded under the early profit taking, but took a very prominent part in the recovery, reaching a level of 4⅛ over Tuesday. Denver and Rio Grande made a sensational advance of 5⅛ and the preferred of 2⅛, while other Colorado stocks were effected to a less degree on the supposition that their amalgamation were imminent.

SYLVANIA BANK WRECKED.

Robbers Drove the People to Bed and Returned to Toledo on a Hand Car,

Toledo, O., Feb. 7.—Seven bank robbers left here on a hand car and wrecked the savings bank at Sylvania, a village in this county. They blew the vault to pieces and made eight explosions of nitroglycerine on the safe. They gagged the watchman and terrorized the village.

The robbers drove the people to bed, and returned to Toledo on the hand car. They got about $100. There was $12,000 in the safe, which was ruined.

Seven Prisoners Escaped.

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 7.—Seven prisoners, including Pearl Newman, convicted of murdering the Philadelphia actor, William J. McCauley, and Ben Higanbotham, charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Allan Dupriest, mayor of Culloden, escaped from the Cabell county jail.

The trip to Washington may be made via Pennsylvania lines, at the low fares on through trains of modern railroad equipment. For details about fares and through services, apply to nearest Pennsylvania lines ticket agent.

A Possible Reason.

Freddie's father had just been struggling with an old fashioned bureau, and retiring disheartened from an unsuccessful effort to open one of its compartments he moved to the window and looking out upon the lowering sky exclaimed:

"It's mighty strange that the weather bureau can't give us a change of weather."

"Maybe," shyly interposed Freddie, "they can't open the bureau drawers."—Weekly Bouquet.

Advice.

"But are there not times when it is impossible to keep a promise?"

"To be sure. But you must make your arrangements so that you don't break the promise yourself. Put the blame on somebody else."—Washington Star.

No Trouble.

"I suppose," said the visitor, "it's like pulling teeth to get any money out of your husband these days?"

"Oh," chipped in little Tommy, before his mother could speak, "ma don't have any trouble pullin teeth. She just takes 'em out and puts 'em in a glass."—Philadelphia Record.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1901.

TRADES COUNCIL.

The writer was granted the privilege and courtesy of addressing the Trades Council of East Liverpool last night on a matter of business. The home organization is a fine representative body.

PRESIDENT OF 318.

The president of Typographical Union No. 318 stated last night, in the presence of Trades Council, that the News Review office, in so far as 318 is concerned, is a full union office, Captain Palmer having duly signed the scale of that body and conformed to all its rules and regulations.

GOVERNOR NASH.

We will be very much disappointed in the chief magistrate of Ohio in case he fails to put out, or in, both Jeffries and Ruhlin, the professional prize fighters who contemplate thumping one another at Cincinnati. Governor Nash has said that he will stop the disgraceful affair, even if it be found necessary to call out the military arm of the law. For the sake of the fair fame of this great and grand commonwealth of Ohio, we hope that the governor will be as good as his word. Principals, seconds, backers and spectators alike should be arrested and punished to the full limit of an outraged law.

FAIR PLAY.

Every lover of fair play and justice in East Liverpool; every true unionist in all this section; every man or woman who is guided by the Golden Rule, will openly assert that the so-called pressmen's organization in this city is a fraud and a cheat and a swindle, without the shadow of law or justice back of it, and the men who are identified with it are either misled or openly desirous of perpetrating fraud, falsehood and injustice. Typographical Union No. 318 passed a resolution that the label of No. 318 should make all products turned out by the craft, in newspaper or job offices, a full union product, and that said label, as now thrown out in bold relief on our first page, constitutes a printing establishment a full union office in every particular. And 318, in order to make this emphatic, went before Trades Council and had the action endorsed by that body, and the record now stands on the books of our Trades Council of East Liverpool, and has never been rescinded. In the light of this record, are we not justified in the assertion that the fellows who are trying to make political candidates believe that the News Review office is an unfair office, in any particular, in composing room, press room or job room, are contemptible falsifiers and tricksters, full of malice and hate, and the very worst foes that any true union organization can have in their fold, and that such creatures are calculated to do untold and lasting harm to the cause of unionism in East Liverpool?

Further, contrary to all laws and rules and regulations of even the Pressmen's International Union, no charge has been preferred against this office by the so-called pressmen's association of this city, nor by any individual connected therewith, and no effort has been made to adjust or arbitrate. If men who will act in this manner can be called unionists, then may the fates preserve us, in company with all fair minded and honest men, from ever being associated with such so-called unionists. We await interesting developments, and they will surely materialize.

There Will Be No Other Candidate In This City For Position Of County Treasurer.

This leaves East Liverpool with but one candidate in the field, the present city treasurer, Sherman T. Herbert, and he will enter the fight with almost the solid Republican vote of this city back of him.

He is a man of whom the Republican party is proud to honor, and it would be hard to find a man more popular or more respected in the community.

East Liverpool is entitled to the county treasureship, as the office has never been filled from this city, and in Mr. Herbert we have a candidate that will do credit to his constituents and to himself should he be elected to the office to which he aspires.

Sherm Herbert, as he is called by his friends, is a self-made man, and has always been a resident of East Liverpool. He entered the employ of the Potters National bank of this city when a mere boy and by hard and steady work rose to the position of paying teller of that institution. After a service of 13 years he decided to leave the bank and engage in the insurance business. His resignation was accepted with reluctance by the directors of the bank and he left the institution with the best wishes for success by the officials and patrons.

He engaged in the insurance business for some time, and at the earnest solicitation of friends was induced to become a candidate for city treasurer in 1896. He was nominated by a handsome majority and was elected by one of the largest votes ever given a Republican candidate in the city. He has served two terms as city treasurer and is just now entering upon his third term, having been elected last spring without opposition. He has served the city well in this capacity and has made one of the best treasurers the city ever had. He is at all times genial and accommodating and it is a pleasure to do business with him.

Mr. Herbert is also connected with the Union Building, Loan & Trust company, of this city, and the Hancock County Building & Loan company, acting in the capacity of secretary of each company.

He enjoys the esteem, confidence and respect of the directors and patrons of these two solid institutions, with which he has been connected since their incorporation.

As a Republican he has always been found working to the best interests of his party and has served it to the best of his ability.

His character is above reproach, and should he be chosen by the Republicans of the county to represent them as a candidate for county treasurer, they know full well the funds of the county will be in the keeping of a man who is well qualified to fill the office and one who will work to the best interests of the county.

It is the duty of every voter of the city to go to the polls on March 2 and cast his ballot for Sherman T. Herbert, as they have a man they can support without fear that he will ever bring discredit to the city which he honors as his home. He should receive the solid home vote.

He Got Some Work to Do.

"Yes, I would, your honor."

"Wages is no object, your honor; all I want is work, with food and clothing and shelter."

"And you'd work if you had that sort of a job?"

"Indeed, I would, your honor; only try me," and the tears actually came into his eyes.

"Very well," said the magistrate kindly, "we'll give you a job with shelter, food and clothing combined. Six months' hard labor. Next case."—Tit-Bits.

The Parson and the Skipper.

An old globe circler says that in going around the world there is scarcely one traveler in a hundred who remembers that in going from east to west a day is gained and that in going from west to east a day is lost. Many of those who come into contact with this truth knew all about it when they were at school, but never think of it on the high seas. In illustration of the point he tells this story:

"My first trip around the world was from England to Australia. Out in the middle of the Pacific a sign was put announcing that the date was Thursday, July 17. This was all right, but the next day the same sign was put up again. This was an opportunity for those of us who thought we were real wise to show the ship's officers that they were not infallible. After we had expended our choicest sarcasm and had been rebuffed by various officers the captain set us straight.

"On my way back one day the card went up announcing that it was Saturday, Aug. 13. The next day the sign said Monday, Aug. 15. Two ministers on board thought the captain a somewhat profane old salt, who had skipped a day to avoid the religious services which they had prepared. He convinced them that it was a mere coincidence that on that particular date the lost day was Sunday. Since then I have never attempted to teach the ship's navigator his business, and he can skip a century if he wishes without my saying a word."—Baltimore Sun.

ALPHA ADDITION.

We haven't been saying much about this plan of lots. Rather been letting it take care of itself. In 90 days spring will be here and people, like birds, will be thinking of house building, hence, we now call your especial attention to it. We don't claim that its the finest lying addition in the city, but we do claim that these lots are the best to be had for the money within the same distance from the business center. They are of easy access by reason of the paved street leading to them. Water and gas are there. They have good drainage. They are high enough to be above the fog and smoke, yet not so very far away that street cars are necessary to reach them, nor so high as to be exposed to the fury of the storm, wintry blast or summer heat. Further, while they last there is not a family in the city but what can own a home here within a very short time, for we make the following liberal offer: We will sell them at $5 cash down, and payments thereafter, averaging $1 per week, with low rate of interest and when you have paid one-half of the purchase price of the lot, we will have erected for you, according to your own plans, a house of three, four or five rooms, substantially built and complete in every respect, which you can then occupy and pay off the balance in payments from $8 to $12 per month, according to price of house. Your rent is costing you that now. Is it not possible for you to spare $1 a week until you pay a lot one-half off. The prices range from

About a score of lots here for sale. They lie on the north and south side of a slightly elevated ridge, a street 50 feet wide running east and west occupying its summit and separating the lots in two tiers. A good view is obtained of the surrounding country, the scope of which takes in Thompson's Boulevard and Park, Riverview Cemetery, part of Gardendale and Maplewood. A beautiful place for a suburban home you will admit upon seeing them. Street cars will be passing this allotment by May. One is as good as another and they are all good, hence we sell at $125 for choice, payable $10 down and balance $5 per month.

GAMMA ADDITION.

We had 18 lots here, but a number have been sold. No prettier or nicer lying land in East End than this addition. Several new houses are in the course of erection and prices are stiffening in the locality. $300 is the full market value, but we still are selling at $250 each, payable $25 down and $10 monthly. No one can make any mistake in buying in East End, for events are trending for its development and improvement.

This addition is well known to all. Residences here will be prized by many on account of the pure atmosphere and beautiful view obtained. We have quite a number of lots here. In contemplation of the completion of street car transit to this suburb and the opening up of the shorter route to the city by way of Sheridan avenue, May and Pleasant streets, people are buying these lots. We have a number of the choice ones to offer you at $100, $115 and $125, payable $10 down and $5 monthly.

This ad. we devote to these Four Additions—we do not want you to forget, however, that we have properties improved and unimproved, in all parts of the city and vicinity for sale.

BRANCH WILL BE STARTED

In the Suburb If Information Given Out by Home Office Is Correct

A few days ago F. F. White, representing a building and loan association of Cleveland, O., announced that his company would start a branch in the East End. On the strength of this announcement he succeeded in obtaining subscribers for about 100 shares of stock, upon which a premium of $1 per share was assessd, while the stock was to be paid for at the rate of 50 cents a share per month. It was learned from one of the East End stockholders today that the home company claim that they never intended to start a branch here; and consequently a number of East End people find that they have subscribed for stock in a Cleveland association.

Another stockholder states that they will have their money back or know the reason why, and it seems probable that a combined legal action on the part of the East End subscribers may be commenced against the company.

A CLOSE CALL.

Miss Odie Beatty Fell Forward Just As She Reached the Elevator.

Miss Odie Beatty, who has been ill for some time, returned to her work in the decorating department at the Globe pottery yesterday morning, and shortly after beginning work called to a lady friend, stating that she was sick. In company with her friend she started to leave the shop and had just reached the elevator when she fell forward. The elevator had just come to that floor, and had she reached there a few moments sooner she would have fallen down the opening, undoubtedly with a fatal result. She was taken home by her friend and is somewhat better today.

NON-SUPPORT

Mrs. Minnie Ammon Has Filed an Affidavit Against Her Husband.

Mrs. Minnie Ammon, of East End, has filed an affidavit in the court of Justice McCarron, charging her husband, John Ammon, with the non-support of their six-year-old daughter.

Ammon is employed at the Walker works, and his wife alleges that he moved her and the child to East End so they would be out of the way, and since that time she has had a great deal of difficulty in providing a home, food and clothing for the little one. She has become weary of this manner of living and has taken the above course in order that her husband be compelled to share the expense of maintaining their daughter.

The case was settled by Ammon agreeing to pay $3 per week.

THE FIRST FIRE FOR SOUTH SIDE

The Village of Chester Was Visited by a Disastrous Blaze Last Evening.

RESIDENCE OF E. A. GOOD

MISS MORROW GAVE THE ALARM

At about 11 o'clock last night the residence of E. A. Good, located at the corner of Carolina avenue and Fifth street, caught fire and was burned to the ground.

All that remains of the house is the chimney, which still stands intact. All the furniture except a few chairs and a table was destroyed with the house, and William Glendenning, who boarded with Mr. Good, lost $75 in cash, which he had left in the kitchen cupboard.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It was first discovered by Miss Mame Morrow, who lives with E. D. Marshall, and she was the first to give the alarm.

Among the first on the ground was Conductor Deitz, of the Rock Springs railway line, who came near being suffocated when he entered the house. He received a painful injury on his wrist, caused by running his arm through a window.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out, Mr. Good being at Connellsville, Pa., and his wife having attended the theater in East Liverpool.

The fire originated between the roof and ceiling, and although a number of people were present shortly after it broke out, nothing could be done, as no fire brigade has ever been formed and there was no water near the house.

The house was a four-roomed structure, cheaply built and including the furniture was supposed to be worth about $800.

The insurance on the house and furniture was about $500.

Another Small Fire.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last evening the roof of George Fulton's house caught fire from burning soot in a defective flue, but in the absence of a ladder W. F. McBee climbed a pole and extinguished the flames before any damage was done.

Had this fire got beyond control it would probably have destroyed the Southside livery barn, the blacksmith shop and the Chester bakery, all adjacent buildings.

Surprised by Dickens.

"I vividly recall hearing Charles Dickens read selections from his own writings in Steinway hall, New York city, shortly after the close of our civil war," said a well known judge. "The hall was densely packed with an audience of cultured people, by far the major part of whom were intense admirers of the man who was to entertain them that evening. I was a youngster then, but was glad to part with $2 to hear the author of 'Nicholas Nickleby' read his own lines. But his appearance on the stage, though greeted by applause, was a distinct shock, so thoroughly out of keeping was his costume with the conventional evening attire of a gentleman. He was clad in a short velvet coat that looked exactly like a smoking jacket, velvet vest to match and a flaming red necktie. Such a garb was in reality an affront and an impertinence to that fashionably clad assemblage. But it was overlooked as an eccentricity of genius, and much applause attended the rendition.

"Nowadays the newspapers would roast any man, however famous, for daring to come before the public in such grotesque attire, but I do not recall that any of the New York papers criticised the distinguished visitor for his sartorial laxity." — Washington Post.

The Antithetical Chinaman.

To attempt to get a Chinaman to assign a reason for anything is futile. One day while riding a donkey through the country west of Peking I noticed that the women of the country villages, mostly farmers' wives and daughters, did not bind their feet. I said to the donkey driver who was running along beside me, "The country women do not bind their feet, do they?"

"No."

"Why?"

"They do not bind their feet."

"Why is it that the Chinese women bind their feet?"

"They bind their feet."

"But why do they do it?"

"That is their custom."

"But why is it their custom?"

"There is no why—no reason whatever."

Ask a child, "Why did your brother not come to school today?"

"My brother did not come to school today."

Or inquire of a man, "Why is it that the Chinese build a pagoda 13 stories high?" and he will most probably answer, "That is the way to build a pagoda."—Isaac Taylor Headland of University of Peking in Washington Star.

PAINT ON INDIAN FACES.

Nearly All of It Means Something to Those Initiated.

The fact of the matter is that every paint mark on an Indian's face is a sign with a definite meaning which other Indians may read. When an Indian puts on his full war paint, he decks himself not only with his own individual honors and distinctions won by his own bravery, but also with the special honors of his family or tribe. He may possess one mark of distinction only or many. In fact, he may be so well off in this respect that, like some English noblemen, he is able to don a new distinction for every occasion. Sometimes he will wear all his honors at one time.

Among the Indian tribes is one designated by the symbol of the dogfish, painted in red on the face. The various parts of the fish are scattered heterogeneously on the surface of the face; the peculiarly long snout is painted on the forehead, the gills are represented by two curved lines below the eyes, while the tail is shown as cut in two and hanging from either nostril. When only one or two parts of an animal are painted on a man's face, it is an indication of inferiority; when the whole animal appears, even though in many oddly assorted parts, the sign is one of great value and indicates a high rank.

Very peculiar are some of the honorable symbols painted on the Indians' faces. There are fish, flesh and fowl of all kinds—dog salmon, devilfish, starfish, woodpeckers, eagles, ravens, wolves, bears, sea lions and sea monsters, mosquitoes, frogs, mountain goats and all manner of foot, claw or beak marks—each with a special meaning of its own.—Pearson's Magazine.

BLIND CAN NOW SEE.

Remarkable Healing of a Little Girl.

THROUGH FAITH IN PROVIDENCE.

The Child Was Blind From Birth and Had Submitted to 19 Surgical Operations, All of Which Were Unsuccessful. Recently Inmate of an Asylum.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—May Levy, a 13-year-old girl, daughter of a salesman on Webster avenue, who has been blind since her birth, and until recently was an inmate of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind, can now see.

About a month ago the girl heard of another child being cured of blindness and asked to be taken to A. L. Krewson, of Allegheny. She insisted that she could be healed, and after the first visit of the sightless girl she began to distinguish things, and her vision has become steadily better, until she needs no one now to conduct her to her room.

The child's parents had made every effort to have the sight restored to their blind child's eyes, and she has submitted to 19 surgical operations, all of which have been unsuccessful. Mr. Krewson said to be healed one must only believe in the power of God.

STEEL DEAL ASSURED?

New York, Feb. 7.—It was said that by the purchase of Andrew Carnegie's interest, a syndicate representing the Federal Steel, American Steel and Wire and four more steel companies, of which J. P. Morgan is the head, is alleged to have acquired control of the Carnegie Steel company. News that the deal was practically closed came from a reliable quarter and was generally accepted in financial and industrial circles. While both Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Morgan preserved silence, the following statement was issued from a semi-official quarter:

"The syndicate purchased from Mr. Carnegie his holdings of the Carnegie company stock, something less than $87,000,000 in par value in the $1,000 shares of the company. Mr. Carnegie will retain his holdings of the Carnegie company's collateral trust 5 per cent bonds of which he is supposed to hold about $100,000,000 out of a total issue of $160,000,000. The company to be formed will guarantee payment of interest on this issue of the bonds, thus maintaining their priority of lien."

The reported sale of Mr. Carnegie's stock was followed by the wildest reports regarding a $1,000,000,000 steel corporation, having, as one publication puts it, "the earth at its mercy." The writer has been informed by a reliable authority that there will be no consolidation in the strict sense of the word. Mr. Morgan merely proposes to rule the steel properties as he does the railroads—by harmony through community of interests and ownership.

President Charles Schwab, of the Carnegie Steel company, unbent so far from his accustomed silence to admit Wednesday at the Holland house that the Morgan-Carnegie situation was "very interesting," but that he could not talk. The writer made an effort to see officials of the four Moore companies, as well as the American Steel and Wire and National Tube companies. The chorus of denials was simply deafening. Still, no one is taking them seriously.

PROPOSED LENTEN SERVICES.

Some Plans Made to Hold Them In a Pittsburg Church.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—Arrangements were made for the coming midday Lenten services which were to be held by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. The first service will be held on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 20. These 25-minute services are held at noon of every day during Lent, except Sunday. For the past two years the services were held in St. Peter's church, but as that structure is now being razed, they will be held this year in Trinity. The following were contained in the arrangements:

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead will conduct the first service. A number of speakers of ability have been secured for the meetings, among them being the Rev. J. O. S. Huntington, the Rev. G. C. Hall, of Delaware; the Rev. Dr. C. D. Williams, of Cleveland; the Rev. R. W. Patton, of Lynchburg, and the Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel. Special music has also been arranged for.

TWO ARRESTS MADE.

Manila, Feb. 7.—Theodorio Carranza, a prominent and wealthy Spanish merchant and hemp and cocoanut buyer, was arrested charged with furnishing supplies to aid the insurgents. Carranza is also a partner of D. M. Carman, an American contractor and owner of boats, who had considerable transportation contracts with the government. The provost marshal and secret service officers had been watching a number of merchants and transportation men for some time past. The police officials had a long interview with Carranza and the arrest of several merchants was expected to result.

Carranza was placed in confinement in the Anda street police station. Carman was arrested last night, and, after considerable questioning, was sent to the same station. The men are charged with the conducting of the business of buying copra (the dried kernel of the cocoanut broken up for export) from insurgent presidentes at Pagsanjan, in the eastern extremity of Laguna de Bay, and also with paying assesments for the insurgent cause. The evidence adduced was to the effect that the prisoners have supplies of the striped clothing used for insurgent uniforms. Both the insurgent presidentes, who claim to have dealth with Carranza and Carman, are now imprisoned in Manila. One of them, Fabella, fears hanging, because he was captured as an insurgent after having sworn allegiance to the United States. He made strong statements tending to implicate Carman and Carranza, and confirming the statements of Reyes, who became presidente of Pagsanjan after Fabella's arrest.

The police have letters and verbal statements from Carman, which sought Fabella's release, asserting that he was a patriotic American subject.

According to papers found, both the presidentes are culpable insurgents. Carranza and Carman admit trading with insurgents, but deny contributing to their cause or furnishing them with supplies.

Carman is one of the best known Americans in Manila. He has a monopoly of carrying goods, going through the custom house, ashore from the ships, and has made a great deal of money. He possessed the confidence of General Otis.

Other Manila merchants are being investigated.

Manila, Feb. 7.—The amended provincial government bill may have passed and the commission, it was expected, will leave here Tuesday to organize governments in the provinces of Pangasinan and Tarlac. After the commissioners return from their tour, it was expected, they will organize Zambales, Bataan, Bulacau, Nueva, Ecijas and Cagayan. The latter, a northern province, was added by General MacArthur to the list of those regarded as ready for provincial government.

The commission was visted by six head hunting Igorrotes from the province of Bonteo. They were immensely entertained by the sights of Manila and expressed a liking for Americans.

The generals were much congratulated on President McKinley's nominations.

MONEY FOR MILITIA.

Gov. Nash Authorized to Spend $50,000 For Soldiers.

TO PREVENT THE PRIZE FIGHT.

At the Hearing In Cincinnati, the Opponents of the Proposed Nuisance Made a Point, on the Admission of Marquis of Queensberry Rules.

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—At Governor Nash's request the state emergency board authorized him to incur any expense necessary, not exceeding $50,000, in the use of state militia to prevent the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest at Cincinnati.

Thisleft no question about the governor's intention to use the military arm of the state if the law should fail to prevent the fight. Governor Nash believes the executive has no power to call out the militia without a request from the sheriff or the mayor, and it is thought he has arranged with Sheriff Taylor, of Hamilton county, that the latter shall call for troops in case they are necessary to stop the fight.

Cincinnati, Feb. 7.—The second day of the Jeffries-Ruhlin prizefight cases in court brought no indication as to when the hearing would be concluded. The state was making efforts to show that the fights scheduled for this city Feb. 15 are a public nuisance under the provisions of the Ohio law and on that ground a permanent injunction is asked for. The promoters of the fight and their counsel were contesting moves made by the state, and if Judge Holister shall refuse to grant a restraining order the Saengerfest Athletic association announces it will proceed to pull off the boxing contest under the permit of Mayor Fleischmann, notwithstanding the radical action taken by Governor Nash and other state officials since last Saturday, and especially Wednesday.

The sale of seats, the training at the quarters of Jeffries, Ruhlin, Martin and Childs, the work of arranging boxes and seats at the big hall, and all other preparations for the event one week from next Friday night were proceeding Wednesday. It was evident that everything will be completed and in readiness before a decison by Judge Hollister shall be rendered. The only suspension seemed to be in withholding the lithographs and other display advertising of the event. These, it was asserted, will be rapidly distributed if Judge Hollister shall refuse to grant an injunction.

Fenton Lawson, director and secretary in both the musical and athletic association, was the principal witness Wednesday. It is thought that the attorneys for the injunction went over everything with him, so that the examinations of the other directors and members of the Saengerfest Athletic association will not take up much time.

The most important witness was Mayor Fleischmann, who testified to the conditions under which he granted the permit for the fight and who held that he was justified in so doing, as he gave a permit for a boxing contest, which should come within the laws of Ohio.

Louis P. Ezekiel, who has all the privileges for programs and souvenirs for the event, was an interesting witness, because he stated that he intended to publish an official copy of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry in the souvenir. This led to discussions as to hte admission of a copy of those rules in evidence.

Henry Straus, at whose cigar store tickets are on sale, was kept on the stand most of the afternoon Wednesday. Straus in part told of the great demand for tickets.

According to the evidence of Straus the bout between Jeffries and Ruhlin was to be a boxing contest and not a prizefight, and he felt confident that he was not selling tickets for an illegal performance, but for one that came within the provisions of the laws of Ohio. The examination of witnesses was conducted by Lawrence Maxwell and Judge Peck, but a feature of the afternoon session was an argument between John M. Warrington and Judge Moses Wilson on the competency of the admission of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry in evidence. Warrington held that a newspaper annual, which contained these rules, was recognized as good authority and should be admitted as evidence. The court overruled the objection of Wilson and the pamphlet was admitted as evidence, subject to any changes that the defense might make from authentic sources. As the contracts that have been entered into provide for contests under these rules the attorneys for the injunction considered that they had made a strong point in their efforts to show that the event here on Feb. 15 is to be a prizefight for the championship rather than a boxing contest. The attorneys for the injunction read these rules in open court with great effort and commented on the brutality that was possible under them. They also read with dramatic effect accounts from the newspapers of the fights that Jeffries and Ruhlin had participated in to show what might be expected of them when they meet for a championship contest on Feb. 15.

CALLS TO TWO MINISTERS.

Rev. Dr. Fulton Visits Pittsburg—Hudnut's Intentions to Be Ascertained.

Pittsburg, Feb. 7.—The Rev. Dr. William S. Fulton, of Lexington, Ky., arrived in the city and was to lead the prayer meeting in the Point Breeze Presbyterian church last night. He had not made up his mind as to what he will do with regard to the call which this church has extended to him. The several organizations of his church in Kentucky have entered protests against his leaving the field where he has been for about 17 years. The ultimate decison must be made by the presbytery of Transylvania. The Kentucky presbyteries are very loth to part with any of their members, as it is difficult to supply the churches in that state. Dr. Fulton will fill the pulpit of the Point Breeze church next Sunday morning and night.

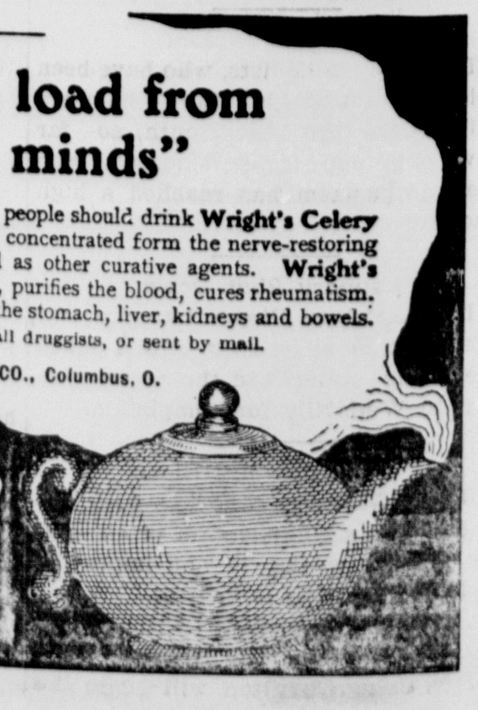

Another congregational meeting of the Bellevue Presbyterian church was called for last night to make a second effort to make out a call for the Rev. William Herbert Hudnut, of Youngstown, as pastor. The meeting about a week ago was postponed to see whether Mr. Hudnut would give the church assurances that he would accept the call if it should be tendered.

Would be sure of a welcome in almost any home. But what a welcome he would have in a home where the hope of children had been extinguished. What a welcome this particular "bright little boy" did have in such a home, may be judged by the closing paragraph of his mother's letter, given below. There is no room for the whole letter, which recounts a story of fifteen years of suffering and a perfect cure by the use of three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and some of the 'Pellets.'"

In many instances childlessness is the result of conditions which are curable. It has often happened that when "Favorite Prescription" has cured a woman of female weakness and the nervous condition attending it, her return to health is signalized by the birth of her first child. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I cannot tell half that Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. T. A. Ragan, of Norris, Watauga Co., N. C. "It will do all that is claimed for it—prevent miscarriage and render childbirth easy. It has given me a bright little boy, and I would not have had him had it not been for your wonderful medicine. I cannot say too much in praise of it; I think it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God for my life, and Dr. Pierce for my health."

"Pleasant Pellets" clear the complexion.

FEDERATION FORMED.

Organization of Churches and Christian Workers Effected.

WISH TO WORK FOR PROVIDENCE.

Promoterss Plan to Co-Operate For His Cause—Fifteen Ministers and 15 Laymen, With President, Secretary and Treasurer, to Be Chosen.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—The delegates to the conference having for its object a national federation of churches and Christian workers took up the question of a constitution for the new organization. The draft presented by Rev. Charles L. Thompson, of New York, chairman of the committee on organization, did not meet with the approval of a majority of the conferees, and the whole question was referred to a committee with instructions to revise the plan.

There was an interesting discussion of the topic, "State Federations and Their Work." Those participating were Rev. C. S. Cummings, Auburn, Me.; Prof. A. W. Anthony, Lewistown, Mo.; Henry H. Stebbins, D. D., president of the Federations of Churches and Christian Workers of the State of New York, and William C. Webb, D. D., secretary of the Evangelical Alliance, of Pennsylvania.

The constitution as finally adopted gave the organization the title of the National Federation of Churches and Christian Workers. Its object was to secure co-operation among churches and Christian workers throughout the United States for the more effective promotion of the interests of the kingdom of God.

Fifteen ministers and 15 laymen were to be chosen by the federation, who, with the president, recording secretary and treasurer, will constitute the executive board.

With the adoption of the constitution the federation was declared formally organized, and a nominating committee was appointed to select candidates for the various offices.

Charles W. Webb, D. D., and Kerr Boyce Tupper, D. D., of this city, and J. W. Higgins, D. D., of New York, were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions of greeting to the national council of Evangelical Free Churches of Great Britain.

Brief addresses were made by Rev. H. B. Roberts, of Hartford, Conn.; W. H. Beach, of the Jersey City federation; Rev. Ward D. Sullivan, D. D., of Oxford, N. Y., and Rev. Dr. Sommerville, Edditown, N. Y.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Two important measures were disposed of by the senate Wednesday, the military academy appropriation bill and the war revenue reduction measure. The only change made in the former was the strengthening of the provision against hazing at West Point.

During part of the afternoon session Wednesday the war revenue reduction bill was before the senate. A determined but unsuccessful effort was made to reduce the tax on bank checks and to provide that telegraph and express companies should bear the burden of the tax on messages and packages sent. The finance committee's amendment levying a tax on transactions in so-called "bucket shops," modifying the tax upon cigars and cigarettes, and providing for a rebate on unbroken packages of tobacco, in addition to several others of a minor character, were adopted.

Beginning about 8 o'clock last evening the first of a promised series of night sessions was held to dicuss the shipping bill. The entire session was devoted to a continuous round of intellectual pyrotechnics. Practically every question that has been or is likely soon to be before the senate was discussed, but very little time was devoted to the pending measure. Notable speeches were made by Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, and Mr. Aldrich, of Rhode Island. The Arkansas senator was passionate in his denunciation of the methods of the majority to force the shipping bill to an issue and Mr. Aldrich's response was quite as keen and vigorous in their defense. Others also spoke more or less.

Postoffice Bill Debated.

RIGHT OF WAY SECURED.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 7.—Right of way has been obtained by the Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia Telephone company into Pittsburg. This company has lines reaching from New York to this town, and as far as Scottdale. The lines will be pushed into Pittsburg at once.

It was announced here by local officials that $4,500 would be spent in Connellsville, $3,500 in Uniontown, and similar amounts in nearby towns. The improvement will be popular in this section, as the Bell Telephone company this month raised its rates.

Knighs of Columbus Convention.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 7.—The state convention of the Knights of Columbus opened here. The election of officers resulted: State deputy supreme grand knight, James A. Flaherty, Philadelphia; state secretary, Joseph McDevit, Philadelphia; treasurer, R. J. Burke, Scranton; state warden, John A. Meighan, Allegheny; state lecturer, A. S. McSwigan, Pittsburg; state chaplain, Rev. T. W. Cavanaugh, Clearfield; state physician, Dr. M. F. Craven, Pittsburg. It was decided to meet in Scranton next year. The order has 8,000 members in the state. A new council will be instituted in Allegheny, Feb. 17.

EVENTS IN BRIEF.

Eight persons have laid claim to the $750 reward for the arrest of Evy and Moore, bank robbers, now in the Maryland penitentiary, and the court will be asked to decide who is entitled to it.

Mr. Bertha Fox, aged 26, of Fox Chase, near Philadelphia, and her 4-year-old son are in a critical condition from carbolic acid poison, and a 2-year-old child is dead from the same cause. They were found unconscious and the husband drunk.

Fire at Wellston, O., gutted the postoffice building and destroyed a large quantity of mail matter. The fire also damaged the First National bank, J. J. Vandervort's wall paper and book store and the Knights of Pythias hall.

At Warren, O., the following prisoners were sentenced to the penitentiary: Chris Peters, Hubbard, burglary, five years; John Holtz, Sharon, Pa., obtaining money on false pretenses, one year; Walter Cooper, Paterson, N. J., Henry Bean, New York, larceny, one year each.

It seems that the local probate court has been issuing illegal licenses to hundreds of Pennsylvania couples. The facts came out again during a trial in court for bigamy. The man was arrested and the lawyers maintain, backed by the statute, that the marriage was illegal for the reason that the license was issued to parties living in Pennsylvania. A lot of folks over there who were licensed here may soon make hotfeet to have their marriages re-performed. At present, according to local lawyers, they are living together unlawfully, though, perhaps, pleasantly.

Cigarettes Falling Off.

According to the United States Tobacco Journal, the production of cigars in this country for the year 1900 shows a large increase, while the cigarette production has fallen off by many millions. Hhe death rate among consumers of the villainous "coffin nails" has reduced the consumption. Soon cigarette smokers will be consigned to the grave or hospitals for the insane, when the manufacture will cease entirely.

BOOMVILLE HOMELETS.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

Boomville ought to have a fire department. At the present time the only conveniences for fighting the lurid destroyer are a stepladder and an old bucket without a handle. Let us not wake up when it is too late.

We received a call a day or two since from Mr. Sam Norton, who lost a dollar on Main street a few weeks ago and has not recovered it up to date. He may never recover it, but he has the consolation of knowing that the dishonest finder will not go to heaven along with the rest of us.

It now transpires that Mr. John Griscomb's year-old baby did not swallow a pair of scissors, as stated in our last issue. What it got away with was half a dozen tacks and a brass thimble, but the doctor anticipates no malign results. Boomville cherubs have healthy appetites.

first into an empty barrel in front of Strong's grocery. The thruster was Abner Green, who had been drinking and was in a jokeful mood. We trust it may not happen again. The position was undignified.

We are sorry to say that we missed the item last week about a cow breaking through the Looking Glass river bridge and breaking her leg, but we are in time to announce that it was her left hind leg and that she is owned by Farmer Savage. He thinks he can amputate the leg and save her life.

Among those who remembered the struggling but undaunted editor last week was Mrs. Jason Williams. She brought us in a pound of butter and a basket of potatoes, and could she have seen the tears in our wife's eyes as we carried the luxuries home she would have felt amply rewarded. We love to be an editor, and we love our subscribers.

Cruel Christophe.

There seems to have been nothing to appeal to in the "Emperor" Christophe's nature. Bravery, humility, all alike failed to touch him He had no bowels of mercy He was one day on the battlements of Haiti with a youth, who, perhaps presuming on past favors, in some manner displeased him. The drop from these sheer walls is 2,000 feet to the plain below. "You are, of course, about to die," said Christophe, "but I will be kind to you. You shall have a choice of deaths. Either you throw yourself over here or the soldiers shall shoot you."

The young man chose to fling himself into space. But by a miracle he fell among some trees or bushes on the cliff side and so escaped with a broken arm. He gathered himself up somehow and presented himself again before the emperor. "Your bidding has been done, sire," he said. "Yes, it has," remarked Christophe, "and I am very much interested to find that you survive. Oblige me by trying if you can do it again!"—"Where Black Rules White, Haiti," by Prichard.

"Those Loving Girls."

"Oh, yes," said the brunette, "it was very sweet of Marie to give me that blue gauze scarf. She knows I look a fright in blue, but the scarf is lovely and just the thing she wants to wear over her yellow hair. I'm not going to leave it around where she can borrow it, though I'll keep it safely until her birthday next month, when I will have it dyed scarlet for her."—New York Mail and Express.
